Introductory Lesson

Zdetl is the official language used throughout the Zhodani Consulate in the age of the Third Imperium. While its precise origins are unknown, it is commonly accepted that it developed in the wake of the Final War when the surviving humans on Zhdant found themselves bereft of their Ancient masters for the first time. Over the millennia, Zdetl evolved gradually into its modern form, which was universally adopted as the official language in the 300th Olympiad, the Imperial year -6055¹.

A distinguishing feature of modern Zdetl is its emphasis on standardization in morphology, grammar, syntax, and structure. Zhodani culture is fundamentally assimilative in nature; in other words, the Consulate is not interested in conquest by force but by acculturation. To this end, the Consular language has been simplified over time to make it easy to teach and learn (or at least less difficult than other languages). This does not mean that Zdetl lacks complexity – like the ancient Terran game of Go, its fundamentals can be learned in minutes, but it can take a lifetime to truly master, and few non-native speakers ever reach that level.

Characteristics of Zdetl

Most languages can be divided into three major parts:

1. Vocabulary, the collection of words that makes up the language
2. Spelling and Pronunciation, the sounds (also known as phonemes) that combine to form syllables, words, and phonological phrases
3. Grammar, Syntax, and Word order

In each of these areas Zdetl displays major simplifications when compared to other modern languages.

Spelling and Pronunciation have been standardized and are phonetic in nature. Each of the major phonemes has a single symbol associated with it, and each letter has one sound. There are no “silent” letters; if a phoneme is unvoiced, it is not written.

Vocabulary has been regularized as much as possible. There are fewer “loan words” than in many Terran languages (and even in Imperial Bilandin); one function of the Tavrcheldi (the Zhodani “Guardians of Morality” – the so-called “thought police” that monitor Consulate society) is to track linguistic developments and either assimilate or remove them from the social vocabulary as needed. New concepts that may lead to subversive thought are subtly but efficiently erased from the national consciousness.

The new student will observe that Zdetl uses many compound word forms. Most commonly these are nouns modifying nouns; as in Anglic the modifying noun comes first, then the main noun last². Zdetl makes widespread use of affixatives, which are usually Locative³, Lative⁴, and Comparative⁵ in nature. There are many others; they will be addressed in later lessons.

Grammar and Word Order in Zdetl is unusual compared to most Terran languages. In Zdetl, sentences follow the structure *Object – Verb – Subject – Indirect Object(s)*⁶.

Unlike other languages, Zdetl does not have “gendered” nouns or pronouns. There is a single third-person singular pronoun – se - that is used regardless of the gender of the individual or creature it refers to. This simplifies interactions with gender-fluid or gender-nonconforming humans and monogendered or multigendered non-human species. Concepts such as “mother” and “father” exist but are not limited linguistically to specific genders; similarly, Zdetl does not differentiate between male and female professionals.

Tlamachi 1: Pronunciation & Spelling

As discussed in the previous section, Zdetl is a highly regularized language with consistent spelling, phonetics, and pronunciation. There are no silent letters and no “irregular” spellings, and all letters (tlo`ta’ni) have one sound and symbol.

The phonemes (sounds) of Zdetl are differentiated and distinct and follow predictable patterns. Multiple vowels rarely appear together, and syllables consist of Vowel (V), Consonant-Vowel (CV), Vowel-Consonant (VC) or Consonant-Vowel-Consonant (CVC) groupings.

Words are accented, and the placement is usually predictable. The accent usually falls on the penultimate syllable. If the word is two syllables, the accent falls on the final. In the case of longer words there may be a secondary accent on the first syllable.

Note the ` and · marks in the previous reading. These indicate where the syllable breaks appear in each word – the ` indicates that the syllable following is accented. These conventions will be used throughout the book.

The Zdetl alphabet (tlo`ta’nitl) consists of 42 distinct phonemes: seven vowels and 35 consonants. Eight of the consonants are combinations of the “N” phoneme plus another letter sound; unlike the other letters these do not have their own glyph but are written as a glyph pair.

The vowel sounds are as follows:

ꝑ A as in “father”, never as in “pale”: atrint, Ah`trint

ꝑ E as in “get” or “let”, never as in “pier”: echtovr, EHch`tovr

ꝑ I as in “kit”, never as in “mile”: ivr, IHvr; izhtak, Ihzh`tak ꝑ IA as in “yahweh”: iavchieql, Yav`chyegl; iatepcha, Ya`tep·cha

ꝑ IE as in “layer”: iebr, YEbr

ꝑ O as in “go”: ibro, i`brO; otre’, O`tre’

ꝑ Ř Ř is a throaty “r” sound like the “r” in “work” as shown in Appendix E. This one can be challenging to learn and recognize in Anglicized Zdetl; students should listen to its spoken form in the footnote and practice saying it often. It will be noted in the Anglicized text as “ř” where appropriate.

Don't make the vowel sounds too long. "A`trint" and "dri`ant" in the examples above have short, clear "a" sound; all vowels should be pronounced as clearly and purely as possible.

The consonant sounds are as follows: B, BL, BR, CH, D, DL, DR, F, FL, FR, J, JD, K, KL, KR, L, M, N, NCH, NJ, NS, NSH, NT, NTS, NZ, NZH, P, PL, PR, Q, QL, QR, R, SH, T, TS, TL, V, VL, VR, Y, Z, ZH, ZHD

They are pronounced like the Anglic phoneme and combinations, except for Q, which is a softer "K" sound like a combination of "K" and the Anglic "G" sound. The closest Terran approximation is the Arabic "Q". The last consonant on the list is a glottal stop or sudden vocal pause. There are no alternate or secondary pronunciations of any letters, as is commonly seen in Terran Anglic.

Pronunciation of the consonant forms is as follows:

Τ B as in Anglic "boy": baz, Baz; "barbarian"

ΤΤ BL as in "blue": achabl, ach`aBL

ΤΤ BR as in "brood": dlabre'; dla`Bre'

Η CH as in "child"; never hard as in "kick": echtovr; eCH`tovr

Δ D as in "dog": dizh; Dizh

ΔΔ DL as in "paddle": dlabre'; DLa`bre'

ΔΔ DR as in "dry": driejabr; DRie`jabr

Ϝ F as in "far"; never a "v" as in "of": fevranzh; Fevr`anzh

ϜϜ FL as in "fly": flietavrian; FLie`tavr·ian

ϜϜ FR as in "free": fronzh; FRonzh

Ј J as in "jump": jiavr; Jiavr

Ͼ K as in "kite": kaz; Kaz

ϾϾ KL as in "cling" or wrinkle: kliazh; KLiazh

ϾϾ KR as in "cry" or "cracker": kral; KRal

ϾϾ L as in "long": lienj; Lienj; "wind"

ϾϾ M as in "many": mazhde'; Mazhd`e'

ϾϾ N as in "never": nad; Nad; "a person who does something"

ϾϾ NCH as in "crunch": Dlenchiepr; dleNCH`iepr; "Intendant"

ϾϾ NJ as in "exchange": lienj; lieNJ; "wind"

ϾϾ NS as in "dans macabre": rans; rANS; "hate (n)"

ϾϾ NSH as in "n + sh": tavrziash; tavrziaNSH; "Morality's Path"

ϾϾ NT as in "can't": Zhdant; zhdaNT; The Zhadani homeworld

ϾϾ NTS as in "pants": yentschap; yENTS`cha·po; "bacon"

ϾϾ NZ as in "cans": Ninz; niNZ; A class of 100-ton scout ships

ϾϾ NZH as in "binge" or "fringe": dranzh; draNZH; "sun"

Ͼ P as in "cap": piapr; Piapr; "thaw"

PL	PL as in “play”: Pliebr; PLiebr ; Zhdant’s star
PR	PR as in “pray”: piapr; piaPR
Q	Q is like the Arabic Q, a glottal hard “G” as in “Qatar”: qiets, Gi-ets
QL	QL as in “glue”: qlome’, Glo`me’
QR	QR as in “grown”: tliaqre’, tlia`GRe’

ST	ST as in “stop”: stebre’; STe`bre’ ; “to be superior”
T	T as in “tall”: tozjabr; Toz`jabr ;
TL	TL as in “atlas”: pranatl; pra`naTL ; a minor Noble, “aspirant”
TR	TR as in “train”: atrint; a`TRint ; “raining,” the wet season
TS	TS as in “sets”: qiets; qieTS ; “swift”
V	V as in “very”: viaj; Vyaj ; “yes” or “truth”
VL	VL as in “Vland”: vlezhd; VLezhd
VR	VR as in “vroom”: vrien; VRien ; “heat”
Y	Y as in “yet”: yonchobo; Yon`cho’bo ; a draft animal
Z	Z as in “zoo”: zar; Zar ; “trek”
ZD	ZD as in “Thursday”: Zdetl; ZDetl ; the official Zhdani language
ZH	ZH as in “measure”: Zhodani; Zho`da·ni
ZHD	ZHD as in “zh + d”: Zhdant; ZHDant, vlezhd; vleZHD
^	^ is a glottal stop or a soft pause between syllables.

Students of Zdetl will note that many of the consonants and vowels combine to form diphthongs and triphthongs, and many consonants combine with ‘R’ and ‘L’ sounds as a single letter. This can sometimes cause confusion for students when it comes to written Zdetl.

Practice pronunciation by learning the names of the seasons:

A`trint (අත්ටාල්ටාල, ah`trint) = “raining,” the wet season following the winter thaw

Vrien`stial (ව්‍යුන්ටාල්ටාල, vryen`styal) = “heat,” the summer season

At`chaf·ser (අත්චාෆ්සෑර, at`chaf·ser) = “waning,” the time of the year when the summer’s heat fades

A`tan`iebl (අත්තාන්ඩ්බ්ල, a`tan·yebI) = “harvest,” the season on Zhdant to harvest mature crops

Ash`tiavl (අෂ්තාව්ල, ash`tyavl) = “chill,” the freezing winter season

At`piapr (අත්පියාප්ර, at`pyapr) = “thaw,” when the freezing winter wanes and becomes more temperate

Numbers

For additional practice, learn the numbers as well:

1 = chial (王ス𠂔, 上)

6 = kiach`ti (≥ス王𠂔人, 𠀤)

2 = o`mei (𠂔𠂔𠂔人, 𠂔)

7 = ko`mi (≥𠂔𠂔𠂔人, 𠀤)

3 = tye`i (𠂔𠂔𠂔人, 𠂔)

8 = ko`e (≥𠂔𠂔𠂔, 𠀤)

4 = na`cho`ie (ア𠂔王𠂔人, 大)

9 = ko`na (≥𠂔ア𠂔, 𠂔)

5 = ma`chie·li (ア𠂔王𠂔人, 十)

10 = ma`tla·pa (ア𠂔ア𠂔ア𠂔, 上口)

100 = chien (王メア, 上口口)

1000 = ma·tla`chien

0 = to`pa (𠂔𠂔𠂔, 口)

(ア𠂔ア𠂔王メア, 上口口口)

Higher numbers can be formed from the ones above:

11 = ma`tla·chial

12 = ma·tla`o·mei

13 = ma·tla`tye`i

14 = ma·tla·na`cho`ie

... and so on. Multiples of ten are formed by prepositioning the appropriate ordinal in front of ma`tla·pa:

20 = o·mei·ma`tla·pa

30 = tye·i·ma`tla·pa

31 = tye·i·ma·tla`pa·chial

Practice these by working out any number you choose.

Exercises

1. What is the number of your house? Your street? Your neighbors' houses? Your phone number?
2. Transcribe the following dates into Zdetl:
 - a. 300 (the year Zdetl was standardized)
 - b. 404 (the year the Consulate was established)
 - c. 584 (when the Jump Drive was discovered)
 - d. 2978 (founding of the Third Imperium)
 - e. 3239 (beginning of the First Frontier War)
 - f. 1207 (First Core Expedition)⁷

Nouns

Nouns are the words used to name things, either living or inanimate. Nouns can also be used to express abstract concepts as well, like “family” or “household,” as we will see in this lesson. In modern Zdetl, many nouns have been standardized to a common ending; this is usually -i.

l`qia Ma`zi Tliaqr`nad ziefr`abr. l`qia Kie`ko choq`abr. l`qia A`kam driefr`abr.

In Anglic, singular nouns are often indicated by placing the indefinite article “a” or “an” before them, though it is sometimes omitted. In Zdetl there is no similar word – “a man” and “man” are expressed by simply saying “shtefri”.

Plural forms of nouns are expressed by either stating the specific number of the object (or person, place, concept, etc). For non-specific quantities of an object, the prefix icha- is added to the word (shtiefr`abr, father; I·CHA·shtiefr·abr, fathers). In most cases, however, the plural form is indicated by adding -o to the word, when it is needed at all.

Ma – added to shtie`fri or zie`fri to create the equivalent of Mr., Mrs., or Miss, when needed. If the gender of the person is unknown or non-binary, Ma is used without the root word. For same-gender couples, -o is added to the end to indicate plurality. When both parents are referred to without regard for gender, ma`o is used.

Ma`shti Tliaqr`nad – Mr. Miller

Ma`shti·o Tliaqr`nad – Mr and Mr

Ke – equivalent of Anglic the. This definite article is used when specificity is required:

ke shtiefr`abr – the father

ke zin`zin – the children

ke ziefr`nam – the wife

ke ken·kal`it·zi – the household

lazh – equivalent of Anglic and, also used commonly to mean also or as well as/too. Pronounced “yazh”.

shtiefr`abr IAZH driefr`zin – father AND son shtiefr`abr IAZH ziefr`abr –

father AND mother

ziefr`nam IAZH ziefr`nam – wife AND wife

driefr`abr IAZH choqr`abr –

A few more Nouns

tle`ko·ni – animal chi·ka·ken`miz·tli – a six-legged catlike creature native to zhendant ziatl – table

ka`fi – coffee

i`bro – egg

fevr`anzh – book

Verbs – the Present Tense

The words used to name an action or a state of being are called verbs. In Zdetl, most (but not all; these will be highlighted as needed) verbs can be identified by their infinitive forms, which usually end in -e' (-^々). The present tense of verbs (actions taking place at the present time, or the current state of an event) is typically denoted by replacing the -e' with the suffix -ia (↗):

i-ka`ti-kIA ke shtiefr`abr.

The father stands/The father is standing.

kril`IA ke drie`fri.

The boy cries/The boy is crying.

cho`et-zhIA ke ziefr`nam.

The wife laughs/The wife is laughing.

tl'a`ko·e' – to eat

tl'a`pa·e' – to drink

qi`lo·e' – to paint

shtiav`e' – to think zhdazh`e' – to catch tie' – to throw ni`lo·ze' – to talk (speak) ka`qe' – to listen

ko`to·zhe' – to sit

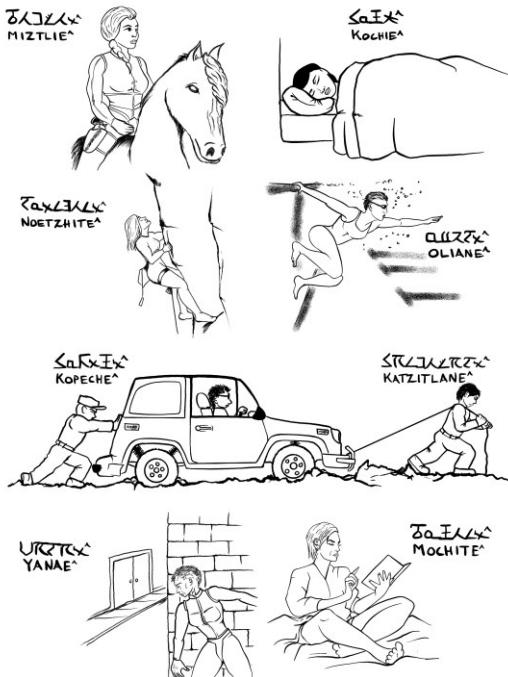

i-ka`ti`ke' – to stand

Word order: Note the appearance of the words in each sentence.

Unlike many Terran languages, which are “subject oriented” meaning the subject of the sentence is almost always placed first in word order, Zdetl is “object oriented.” In Zdetl, sentences follow the pattern “Object – Verb – Subject – Indirect Object(s)⁸.” In the simple sentences above, a direct translation of the words as they appear might be “Stands the father,” “Cries the boy,” and “laughs the wife.” This is likely to be an unusual word pattern to students, particularly those accustomed to the Subject – Verb – Object word order used in most European languages. Practice and patience will help with learning the sentence structure.

⁸ Zdetl \(language\) - Traveller \(travellerrpg.com\)

- miz'tle' – to ride
- ko'che' – to sleep
- no·et'zhi·te' – to climb
- o'lia·ne' – to swim
- ko'pe·che' – to push
- kat·zi'tla·ne' – to pull
- ya`na·e' – to hide
- mo'chi·te' – to read

Correlative Pro-forms

Words which express a relationship between objects, refer to specific objects, are used to inquire as to the status of objects or concepts, are collectively referred to as *correlative pro-forms*⁹. In modern Zdetl these concepts have been simplified to a standardized set of forty constructions. In this lesson we will concentrate on two: iad (which person or who) and i'ni·nad (that person or them, used when a person or thing is known by its proper name)¹⁰.

As discussed previously, the verb always comes first in the sentence.

Tla`ko·lia iad?
 Who is eating?

I`qia iad tle`ko·ni ke chi·ka·ken`miz·tli?
 Which animal is the cat (chikakenmiztli)?

I`qia I`ni·nad ke shtiefr`abr.
 That person is the father. (Is that person the father.)

Ni`lo·zhia i`ni·nad.
 That person is talking.

Tla`ko·lia i`ni·nad.
 That person is eating.

I`qia i`ni·nad tle`ko·ni ke chi·ka·ken`miz·tli.
 That animal is the cat (chikakenmiztli).

Zdetl has another correlative form used for inanimate objects. Whereas the suffix -ad refers exclusively to a person or animal capable of thought, the suffix -tetl refers to objects or organic beings such as plants, not capable of thought or lacking a defined brain that can either learn or be influenced by psionics. Robots and artificial intelligences fall into this latter category. Its usage follows the same pattern:

I`qia i`tetl ke iadl`a·jem?
 Which is the sky car? (Is which thing the skycar?)

I`qia i`tetl ke ziatl?
 Which is the table?

I`qia i`tetl ke i`bro?
 Which is the egg?

I`qia i`nin·tetl ke iadl`a·jem.
 That one is the skycar.

I`qia i`nin·tetl ke ziatl.
 That is the table.

I`qia i`nin·tetl ke i`bro.
 That one is the egg.

For correlative forms that refer to plural nouns, -o is added:

I`qia iad`o ke i·cha`shtiefr?
 Who are the men?

Ni`lo·zhia iad`o?
 Who is talking?

Tla`ko·lia iad`o?
 Who is eating?

I`qia i·ni`nad·o ke i·cha·shtiefr.
 They are the men.

Ni`lo·zhia i·ni`nad·o.
 They are talking.

Tla`ko·lia i·ni`nad·o.
 They are eating.

Prefixes and Suffixes

Like many Terran languages, Zdetl makes extensive use of prefixes and suffixes to extend the vocabulary. Zdetl also combines words into compound word forms that carry deeper meaning than the root words. Many of these are easy to spot and apply as needed or desired without sacrificing clarity. In such cases, nouns modify other nouns as in Anglic, with the root or main noun appearing final in the word.

ICHA- (人王ア-) (Human King)

The prefix ICHA- is sometimes used to indicate a non-specific number or quantity of like nouns as identified by the root word:

shtiefr`abr (father)
iadl`a·jem (sky car)
cho`qi (girl)

i·cha`shtiefr·abr (fathers)
i·cha·iadl`a·jem (sky cars)
i·cha`cho·qi (girls)

-ABR (-アブ)

The suffix -ABR indicates a family member:

zie`fri (woman)
drie`fri (boy)
cho`qi (girl)
shtie`fri (man)

ziefr`abr (mother)
driefr`abr (brother)
choq`abr (sister)
shtiefr`abr (father)

-ZIN (-コノマ)

The suffix -ZIN indicates a child family member:

cho`qi (girl)
drie`fri (boy)

choq`zin (daughter)
driefr`zin (son)

-NAM (-アヌマ)

The suffix -NAM indicates a spousal family member:

zie`fri (woman)
shtie`fri (man)

ziefr`nam (wife)
shtiefr`nam (husband)

CHE- (ች-) (ች-)

The prefix che- is used to denote people of both sexes or gender expressions taken together:

driefr`zin – son
choq`zin – daughter
drie`fri – boy
cho`qi – girl
shtiefr`nam – husband
ziefr`nam – wife

che`zin – children (sons and daughters) che`fri – boys and girls
chefr`nam – husbands and wives; men and women of the household

Chefri is occasionally used collectively for “ladies and gentlemen,” “Mr and Mrs,” but in such cases there are more formal modes of address considered appropriate for use (Cheziefri iazh cheshtiefri).

-NAD (-ናል)

The suffix -nad is used when referring to a person who performs a specific function. It modifies a verb¹¹:

qi`lo·e^ - to paint
tliaqr`e^ - to grind grain zhant'ad – a commoner or prole

qi·lo`nad – a painter tliaqr`nad – one who grinds grain, a miller – also a common zhodani prole surname

-PRIA (-ፕያ)

The suffix -pria is used when referring to a place where an activity is done. It also modifies a verb or noun.

Mo`chi·te' - to read
Ko`to·zhe' - to sit
Ka`fi – coffee
Iadl`a·jem – sky car; air/raft

Mo·chi`te·pria – a reading room
Ko·to`zhe·pria – a sitting room
Ka`fi·pria – a coffee house
Iadl·a`jem·pria – sky car garage

Pria can also be used on its own to mean any room.

¹¹ The suffix -nad almost exclusively refers to trades or professions and implies a level of training to do the activity.

-TIKI (-チキ)

The suffix -ti`ki is a diminutive, often used when referring to infants or young children. Also sometimes used as a term of endearment, like the Japanese “-chan” modifier. It can also refer to objects that are small, or small animals. Used on its own, it can be an adjective (ti`kia).

Drie`fri – a boy

Zin – a child

Shtiefr`nam – husband

Iadl`a·jem – sky car; air/raft

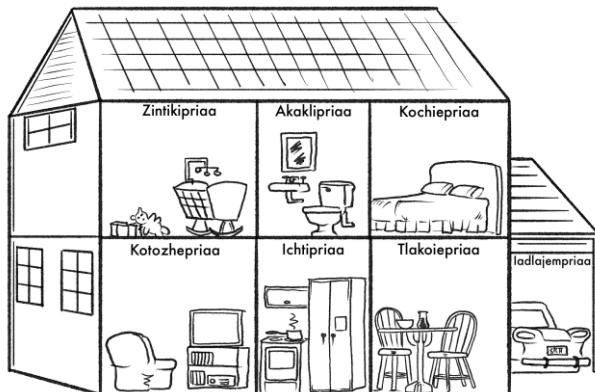

Drief`ti·ki – a baby boy

Ti`ki·zin – an infant

Shtiefr`nam·ti`ki – my darling husband

Iadl`a·jem·ti`ki – a compact sky car

Itzi

It`zi yz`qia ken`ka·li Tliaqr`nad.

Kia`chti pria chok`tas it`zi: zin·ki·ki·pria, a·ka·kli·pria, ko·chiae·pria, ko·to·zhe·pria, icht`i·pria, iazh tla·ko·ie·pria.

Exercises

Exercise 2a: Zdetl to Anglic

1. Iqia Mashti Tlieqrnad shtiefrabr, iazh iqia Mazi Tliaqrnad ziefrabr.
2. Iqia Akam iazh Kieko chezin.
3. Iqia iad Mashti Tlieqrnad? Iqia iad Mazi Tlieqrnad?
4. Iqia iad Akam? Iqia iad Kieko?
5. Itzi yzqia kenkali Tliaqrnad.
6. Tlakoia akom itetl pria kenkali Tliaqrnad?
7. Kochia akom itetl pria Mao Tliaqrnad?
8. Oshia akom itetl pria ke chezin?
9. Ichitia akom itetl pria Mao Tliaqrnad?
10. Iqia akom itetl pria ke iadlajem?
11. Akom iadlajempria iqia iadlajem.

Exercise 2b: Anglic to Zdetl

1. Who is Mr. Miller?
2. Who is Mrs. Miller?
3. Who is Akam Miller? Who is Kieko Miller?
4. Observe the Miller residence (house).
5. In which room do Mr and Mrs Miller sleep?
6. In which room do the children play?
7. In which room does the family eat?
8. Where is the sky car?
9. The sky car is in the garage.

Tlamachi 3: Akom ke Pria

In the room

ቤት ይህንን አገልግሎት

The next lessons will feature Zdetl translations alongside the written Anglic forms of the vocabulary as much as possible.

Adjectives

Adjectives are words used to describe people and objects. In Zdetl, most adjectives end in -a (-እ):

iek`ta chi·ka·ken`miz·tli – good cat sar·ki`ka·sha tle·ko`ni·o – extinct animals

zin`a shtie`fri – childish man ka`yo·tla itzi – beautiful house

ti`kia pria – small room

vrien`a ka`fi – hot coffee

The adjective does not have to agree with the noun it modifies; in other words, if the noun is plural, the adjective does not have to be made plural by adding -o (-ል) but it can be:

zin`a shtie`fri·o

zin`a·o shtie`fri·o – childish men

ye`ka i`bro·o

ye`ka·o i`bro – bad eggs¹²

ka`yo·tla it`zi·o

ka`yo·tla·o it`zi·o – beautiful houses

qiets`a iadl·a`jem·o

qiets`a·o iadl·a`jem·o – fast cars

Adjectives should be placed in front of the nouns they modify¹³. When adjectives are present, the sentence follows the syntax Adjective – Object – Verb – Adjective – Subject:

Man`ka cha`cha chi·ka·ken`miz·tli – soft, furry cat

Ti`kia cha`o·qa pria – small, cozy room

Man`ka·o cha`cha·o chi·ka·ken·miz`tli·o – soft, furry cats

Ti`kia·o cha·o`qa·o pria·o – small, cozy rooms

¹³ If an adjective is also a suffix, as in the case of -tiki, it is considered more proper to simply apply the suffix to the noun and reduce the number of adjectives preceding the noun. Tikia chaoqia priaa becomes chaoqia priaatiki. Often adjectives prefixes, suffixes and nouns are combined into a single compound word; in this example tikia chaoqia priaao would become chaoqipriaatikia, “cozy little room.”

Personal Pronouns

Words used in place of nouns are called pronouns, and pronouns used to refer to people are called personal pronouns. In Zdetl there are six basic forms.

ze (Ζ↗) I, me de (Δ↗) us, we ve (↗↖) You (singular) le (↙↖) You (collective) se (↑↗) he, she, or it ye (↖↗) they

A seventh pronoun exists – zhe (Ξ↗) – or “one,” which is used when referring to a non-specified person. A good approximation in Anglic comes from the 20th century Terran music group Rush from their song “Limelight”:

“One must put up barriers to keep oneself intact.”

Verbs in Zdetl have mostly been standardized to follow a consistent form. As discussed in Lesson Two, the present tense ending is -ia (-↗):

mo`chi·te' – モチタ – to read mochitia ze – I read, I am reading mochitia de – we read mochitia ve – you read mochitia le – you all read mochitia se – (s)he reads

mochitia ye – they read

i`qe' - イケ - to be iqia ze – I am iqia de – we are iqia ve – you are iqia le – you all are iqia se – (s)he is iqia ye – they are

Recall the correlative pro-forms introduced in the previous lesson, iad (↗Δ) and i`tel (↖↖↗). When added to a phrase, they transform it into a question:

iqia ze iad – who am I?

iqia ve iad – who are you?

iqia se iad – who is she?

iqia de iad – who are we?

iqia le iad – who are y'all?

iqia ye iad – who are they?

The verb iqie is usually omitted in conversation: ze iad? = who am I?

As always, remember the object – verb – subject word order.

Verbs: Continuous Tenses

In Anglic, adding the present tense noun “am” indicates an action that is happening now, as in “I am reading” or “I am dancing.” In Zdetl there is no need for this redundancy; for example, mo`chi·tia ze can be used interchangeably for “I read” and “I am reading.”

Questions

In Anglic, many question or interrogative statements are created by adding do/does, or is/am/are to the phrase, as in “AM I reading?” or “DOES he dance?” These added words have no real meaning, as the rising tone of voice at the end of the phrase conveys the meaning as well (“I reading?” can be understood the same as “Am I reading?”, though it lacks the same mature quality).

Similarly, questions in Zdetl are indicated by a rising inflection of the voice at the end of the sentence. However, when one wishes to be more specific or formal in inquiry, the question word jdo (ຈດ້ວຍ) is added:

Mochitia ze	becomes	Jdo mochitia ze?
Kotozhia ye	becomes	Jdo kotozhia ye?
Tlakolia de	becomes	Jdo tlakolia de?

When the verb in the inquiry is some form of to be, often in English the verb form is shifted in the word order:

I am beautiful	becomes	AM I beautiful?
I am eating	becomes	AM I eating?
I am sitting	becomes	AM I sitting?

In Zdetl the verb iqe' is not usually used – its meaning should be clear from the context. Instead, the question word is added as shown above, even when the question is about a descriptive quality:

kayotla ze (I am beautiful)	becomes	Jdo kayotla ze? (Am I beautiful?)
Qietsa ye (they are fast)	becomes	Jdo qietsa ye? (Are they fast?)
Tikia se (it is tiny)	becomes	Jdo tikia se? (Is it tiny?)

iqe' in any form is usually used when the meaning would otherwise be unclear.

Yes and No

viaj (វិត្យ) = yes or truth;

chak (ទំនាក់) = no or false, also used to express negation

To answer in the affirmative, place viaj first in the sentence. Chak always ends the phrase to answer in the negative, or more often is appended as a prefix to the verb or adjective.

Jdo kayotla ze? (Am I beautiful?)	Viaj, kayotla ve. - Yes, you are beautiful. Kayotla ve chak./Chakayotla ve. – You are not beautiful. (literally, “beautiful you are not.”)
Jdo qietsa ye? (they are fast)	Viaj, qietsa ye. – Yes, they are fast. Qietsa ye chak./Chaqietsa ve. – No, they are not fast.
Jdo tikia se? (is it small?)	Viaj, tikia se. – yes, it is small. Tikia se chak./Chatikia se. – No, it is not small.
Jdo tlakolia de? (Are you eating?)	Viaj, tlakolia ze. – Yes, I am eating. Tlakolia ze chak./Chatlakolia ze. – No, I am not eating.

Note that in Anglic, the present tense verb DO or DOES is often used in negative statements like “I read” vs “I DO NOT read.” In Zdetl this is not required, as the meaning should be clear from context.

Correlative Pro-Forms: -TETL and -OCHTI

i'tetl (ឈូកុកុគុ) – what/which thing;

i'nin-tetl (ឈាមឈាមុកុគុ) – that thing

As discussed in the previous lesson, the suffix -tetl refers exclusively to inanimate objects, computers and robots, and organic creatures that lack higher cognitive powers or a complex organic brain. Calling a human or other higher life form by inintetl is a grave insult implying a lack of the capacity for independent thought, reason, or judgement.

Itetl se? (what is that?)

Ziatl se. (It's a table.)¹⁴

¹⁴ Note the omission of the verb iqe'.

l'och·ti (↙↖王↖人) – what kind/type of i·nin`och·ti (↖↗↖↖↖↖人) that kind/type of lochti inquires as to the quality, nature, or type of a thing. Ininochti answers the question; in Anglic it might translate to such a. Unlike itetl and inintetl, this word pair can also be used to inquire about people and animals, not just objects.

lochti is often used in exclamations:

l`o·ch·ti tle`ko·ni!
(what a beast!)

l'och·ti shtie`fri ve!
(what a man you are!)

l'och·ti qra`zhe!
(such a noise!)

l'och·ti ziatl se? (what kind of table is that?)

Ma`la·chtia ziatl se.
(It's a round table.)

l'och·ti iadl`a·jem se? (what kind of sky car is that?)

Tchipl se.¹⁵

l'och·ti shtie`fri ve? (what kind of man are you?)

Homo Zdo`tlas de.
(I'm a Homo Zdotlas.)

l'och·ti tlekonio se? (what kind of animals are those?)

Tochinqua se. (Those are honey badgers.)

↖王↖人

Possessive Phrases

In Anglic, the possessive form of a noun appends “s” to the word. In Zdetl, no such form exists. Instead, the word dra (ດ່າ) is inserted between the object and the subject to show ownership. The definite article ke can be used or omitted without loss of meaning:

Ke it`zi dra ken`ka·li Tliaqr`nad
(The Tliaqrnad residence)

Pria dra Kie`ko (Kieko's room)

Ke iadl`a·jem dra Ma Tliaqr`nad
(Mr. Tliaqrnad's car)

Cha·ki`li·o dra A`kam (Akam's toys)

¹⁵ Tchipl is the name of a popular compact grav vehicle that seats two with room for a bit of luggage. It gets its name from its unique, nearly spherical shape, and is also the Zdetl word for “bubble.”

Another way of showing possession in a sentence is to turn the personal pronoun into an adjective. In Anglic we might say “Kieko plays with HER toys” indicating that the toys being played with belong to Kieko. In Zdetl, using dra would be unwieldy, so we instead say “Seo chakilio chilitia Kieko. (her toys plays with Kieko).” The pronoun se becomes seo and modifies chakilio, toys.

Discussion: Psionics

No discussion of Zhodani society would be complete without mentioning Psionics or dievl (▷❖❖), the set of mental disciplines that defines and underpins their culture. Within Zhodani society there are three classes of citizen, and one’s place in society depends on their ability to use psionics.

At the bottom are the Proles, known as zhant`ad (ヨanax^ ノル), who have minimal or no psionic skill or training. Zhant`ad make up 75 to 80% of the population of any given Consulate world and do nearly all the manual labor and many skilled professions like programming and sciences.

Next are the Intendants, called dlench`iepr (ヒヤア王大臣). Dlench`iepr are individuals who have been identified as having significant psionic potential. They make up the lowest ranks of the psionic nobility and account for about 15% of the population. The ranks of military officers, government bureaucrats, business management, doctors, and police forces are staffed by dlench`iepr.

The upper tier of Consulate society is the nobility, the zhdobr`dievl (ヨドロク ノスナ). The nobility performs all the major functions of government and also are the only citizens allowed to vote. Nearly 6% of the population are zhdobr`dievl:

Pra`natl	anax^	Aspirant
Jdi`stebr	ソロスルヒトト	Wellborn
Vies`tlas	タメトヒト	Highborn
Zhobr`tlas·che'	ヨヌトヒトエラ王セ^	Noble Born
Prebl·shien`chia·shav	ソセト王ナカ王ヌシタ	Princely Born

All Zhodani citizens are evaluated from birth for psionic potential. Centuries of genetic research and careful breeding have produced a culture where nearly every person has some potential – at the very least, most citizens have some low level of telepathic ability – but careful testing identifies any child that shows signs of significant ability is identified at an early age and monitored closely by schools, doctors, and the government. Once the child's talents begin to manifest, more rigorous testing is performed. If the child shows significant ability, it is removed from the zhant'ad family and given the status of dlench'iepr and adopted out to a zhobr'dievl house.

This may seem cruel to outsiders, but in fact it is for the good of both the child and the family. A zhant'ad family simply does not have the resources, skills, or training to safely raise a child whose psionic talents will likely exceed those of the parents. The Zhodani have learned that in such cases, early intervention is critical to both the success of the emerging psion and the health and safety of the biological family. Among zhant'ad, for whom upward nobility is nearly unheard of, having a child elevated to the psionic nobility is a great honor that all aspire to. For the zhant'ad family it is a bittersweet moment, as losing a child is always a stressful time, so the Consulate does everything possible to ease the transition for both family and child. The adoption process is met with ceremony.

shta`dievl	શ્વાસીય	Telepathy
pra`dievl	પ્રાયોગિક	telekinesis
ko`ets-dievl	કોએટ્સ ડ્યુલ	teleportation

tla·ko`ie-dievl	ત્લાકોયે ડ્યુલ	awareness
zhda`va-dievl	જ્હડાવા ડ્યુલ	precognition

To identify a person who is trained in a psionic discipline, add -nad:

Shtadr`nad	શ્વાસીયાર	a person trained in telepathy
Pradr`nad	પ્રાયોગિકાર	a person trained in telekinesis
Ko-ets`nad	કોએટ્સ આર	a person trained in teleportation
Pe`tlan·drnad	પેટ્લાન એનાર	a person trained in clairvoyance
Tla·ko`iedr-nad	ત્લાકોયેડ્રાર	a person trained in awareness
Zhdavr`nad	જ્હડાવાર	a person trained in precognition

Zhdavr`nad are very rare, accounting for about 1% of the psionic population. They often suffer from severe psychiatric disorders and mental instability and require constant monitoring and therapy. A well-trained and psychologically stable zhdavr`nad is highly prized as a military and exploration asset, and a few have been sent on the core expeditions to predict future paths.

Adverbs

Adverbs are words that modify or enhance verbs. In Anglic, most (but not all) adverbs end in -ly. They are formed from adjectives (though nearly any word can become an adverb, as we will see) and commonly answer questions of How, Why, Where, and When of the verb; in other words, they describe the manner, reason, state, etc. of the action. In Zdelt, most adverbs end in -e (-ɛ):

kayotla (カヨトラ)	beautiful	kayotle (カヨトレス)	beautifully qich (キチ)	sufficient	qiche (キチエ)	sufficiently yekta (エクタ)	good	yekte (エクテ)	well
pradievl (アーティカル)	telekinesis (n)	pradievle (アーティカル)	telekinetically

In Anglic, most (but not all) adverbs end in -ly.

When adverbs are used in a sentence, they precede the verb they modify. The sentence syntax is Object – Adverb – Verb – Subject.

Subject and Object

In previous lessons, our sentences have shown what someone or something does or is:

Ke fevranzh mochitia ke ziefrabr.
カエ フエラント モチチア ケ ゾイフラブ.*

The mother reads the book.

Ke ziefrabr iqia Mazi Tliaqrnad.
カエ ゾイフラブ イチア マジ ティアカル.*

The mother is Mrs. Miller.

The person or entity taking the action is the subject. In these examples, ziefrabr is the subject.

In regular usage, however, we are concerned not merely with what the subject is doing, but what the subject is doing to something or someone else. For example, when we read, we are reading something, when we speak, we are usually speaking to someone, when we sleep, we are sleeping somewhere, and when we eat or drink, we are eating or drinking something. This someone or something is called the object or direct object. In Zdetl, the direct object always appears first in the sentence, followed by the verb (and preceded by any adjectives), and then finally the subject. Zdetl word order is always Object – Verb – Subject.

Correlative Pro-Forms: -ZHIA and -QENTA

i`zhia (人ヨズ) – where? What place?

i`nin·zhia (人々アヨズ) – there, that place

i`zhia vi`dlia ve?

i·nin`qen·ta can also be used to compare to concepts (or things or people):

Chak`i·qia se i·chak`i·preql i·nin`qent·a Dlol`pliki.
王アズ人々ス 上セ 人王アズ人々スセ 人々アセタカニ ハルヒラズ人々
It is not a large city like Dlolpriki (The capital city of Zhdant).

Chak chi`li·tia se i·nin`qent·a ve.
王アズ 王人々ス 上セ 人々アセタカニ ハセ
He does not play like you.

The combination of i`qent·a ... i·nin`qent·a can be translated to Anglic as ... as:

Chak`i·qia Tchipi! i`qent·a i`cha·ki in·in`qent·a iadl`a·jem.
王アズ人々ス ハ王人々ス 人々セタカニ 人王アズ人 スロアセセ
A Tchipi is not as big as a sky car.

Chak`i·qia chi·ka·ken`miz·tli i`qent·a tla`ye·ia inin`qent·a to·chin`qo·a.
王アズ人々ス 王人々スセタカニ 人々スアセタカニ ハルヒラズ人々
A chikakenmiztli is not as fierce as a tochinqua.

Prefixes and Suffixes

ICHAKI- (人王アズム-)

The prefix ichaki- is the opposite of -tiki and is used to imply very large size.

Fevr`anzh

Verbs: Future Tense

When we are talking about events that haven't happened yet or asking about actions that will take place at some point in the future, the verbs take the future tense form. In Zdetl, verbs in future tense end in -ře (-ル). You will want to practice the pronunciation of this suffix often.

¹⁶ Though syntactically correct, this form is almost never used except for humour purposes. Mountain ranges are simply jdatl.

Ai ve a·ko`stial ki`lo·ře ze.

アイ ベ アコスチヤル キロレゼ

I will write to you tomorrow.

Tla`ko·ře ke`tlach-ia¹⁷ de.

トラコレ ケタラフイア デ

We will eat this afternoon.

Drekr ke`stial ezh`ie·ře se.

ドレクル ケスチヤル エズイエレセ

She will visit the doctor today.

Jdo ka`yo-tlie i`qře ze?

ジドカヨーティル イクレゼ

Will I be beautiful?

Verbs: Past Tense

When discussing an event, action, or state that has already happened or existed, verbs take the past tense form. In Zdetl, verbs in the past tense end in -ie (-ズ).

Ai ye i`qin·stial ki`lo·ie ze.

アイ ベ イキンスチヤル キロイゼ

I wrote to you yesterday.

Ke·cha`pa·ni ke`tlach·ie de.

ケチャパニ ケタラフイ デ

We ate this morning.

Drekr i`qin·stial e`zhie se.

ドレクル イキンスチヤル エズイエセ

She visited the doctor yesterday.

Ko`chie se.

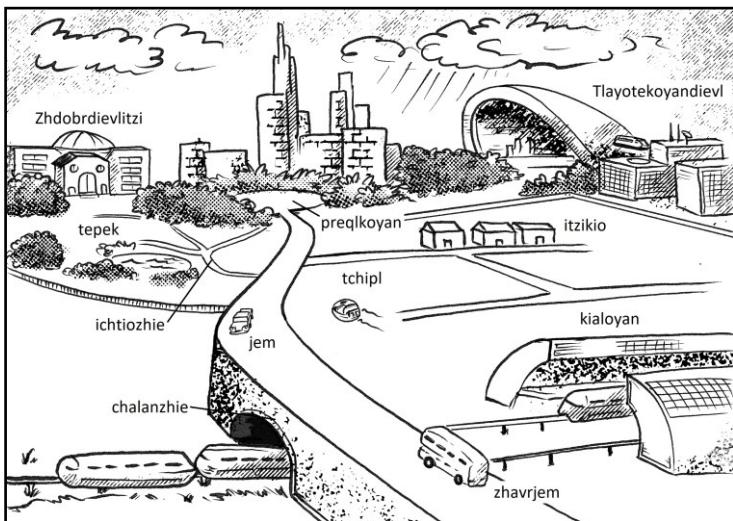

コイチエセ

He slept.

¹⁷ Note: the addition of ke- to tlacha (afternoon) indicates that the afternoon referred to is happening today; thus, “this afternoon.” If an activity is part of a regular schedule (as in, “We eat daily”), the noun stial can be transformed to an adverb to make it daily by adding -e: Stiale tlakoia de (we eat daily) or Tlachae tlakoia de (we eat every afternoon/’afternoonly’).

Discussion: Zhodani Urban Planning

Visitors to the Consulate will notice that Zhodani architecture and urban design share many features common to other human cultures. Government buildings are often designed to project a sense of power and strength; hospitals are designed to be comfortable and relaxing, and businesses and corporations build their spaces with similar considerations. This is entirely by design - telepathy, empathy, and other psionic talents have enabled the Zhodani to create cities, towns, and municipalities that emphasize productivity, comfort, and acceptance of the social hierarchy. When one enters a Zhodani building, they are immediately immersed not only in the sense of awe and wonder, but also belonging - the workplace becomes a space where one wants to be part of the whole, to contribute to the greater good.

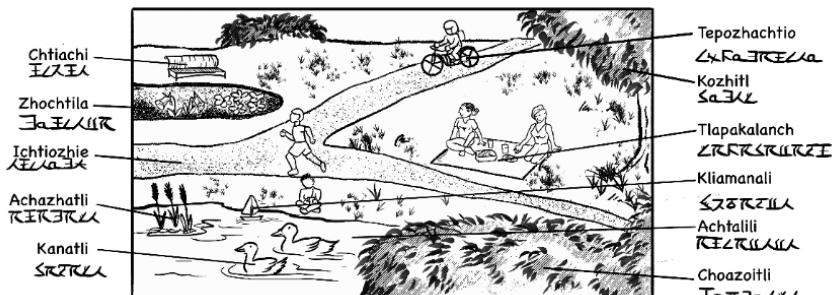

This carries over into all public spaces. Nobles will often set aside portions of their estates for use by the public, employing Proles and Intendants for groundskeeping and psychic maintenance of the space and those who use it. These spaces are highly valued as essential to the mental health of the populace. Happy people are productive people, and well maintained, publicly accessible parks provide Proles, Intendants, and Nobles alike with a pleasant spot to relax when needed. These relaxing, pleasant spaces are a point of pride for the Zhodani people, and all are expected to make use of them when needed (though spending too much time away from work might result in a visit from the Tavr`chedl).

This aesthetic carries over into private homes as well. The homes of Proles are designed with comfort, belonging, and satisfaction in mind, whether they're high-tech arcologies on long-settled worlds or prefab habitats on new colonies. The homes of Nobles vary widely depending on the personalities, tastes, and desires of the Noble family, but they tend to follow similar patterns.

Central to every Zhodani major city is the Tla·yo·te·ko`an·dievl, the Psionic Testing Center. These complexes vary widely depending on planetary conditions (a Tla·yo·te·ko`an·dievl on a garden world will have a lot of open space; one on a vacuum world might be a group of interlocking domed structures), but all have the same purpose, to evaluate the psionic potential and talents of Zhodani children at all stages of development. On Zhdant, in the capital city of Dlol`pli·ki, the Tla·yo·te·ko`an·dievl also functions as the primary venue for the Te`qo·zdievl (the Psionic Games).

Movement Toward

The prefix ai (ア) indicates movement toward a place or position. In Anglic, this is often indicated by adding TO to IN or ON. In Zdetl, ai is appended to the noun:

Ichi ke ai`ziatl akotlia ke chikakenmitzi. The cat jumps onto the table.
Tlani ke ai`koch·ka tloie ke kokoyotli. The mouse ran under the bed.

AI can also modify the adverb when the adverb refers to place:

Se katlakie itzie.
上七 之アとア之ア 人^クコズ* He (she/it) stayed home.
Se ozdie ai`tzie.
上七 又コロア パ人^クコズ* He went home.

In Anglic we often use -ward(S) to indicate movement:

ai`a·paz	ア人アラカコ	forwards
ai`vel	ア人タナツ	backwards
ai`zhin	ア入ヨメア	upwards
ai`zin·tla	ア入コメアヒア	downwards
ai`ok	ア入ロニ	sideways
ai`fevr	ア入ハセウ	leftward
ai`jdel	ア入ノロナツ	rightward
ai`mitl	ア入タヌヒ	northward
ai`sejd	ア入トケル	eastward
ai`cha·pa	ア入王アラカ	southward
ai`fev	ア入ハセウ	westward

AI can also be appended to i`zhia and i`nin·zhia:

I`zhia od`zia ve?
Where (whither) are you going?
I`zhia od`zie se?
Where did he go to?

Ai`nin·zhia od`zia ze.
I am going there (thither, to that place)
Ai`nin·zhia od`zie se.
She went there (to that place).

Movement From

PE (凡[↖]) indicates movement away from a place or position. When used, it is placed before the preposition or appended to it as a prefix. In Anglic, this usually takes the form of from:

Pe`i·chi ke iziatl akotlie ke chikakenmitzi. The cat jumped off from the table.
Pe`tla·ni ke kochka tloie ke kokoyotli. The mouse ran from under the bed.

Instead of saying pe akom (凡[↖] 凡[↗]凡[↗]) when we mean from in or out of, in Zdetl we use taj (<[↖]凡[↙]) to indicate the same meaning:

Taj ke fev miztlie ke shtiefri. The man rode from out of the West.
Taj frrz tlapaie ke ziefri. The woman drank from a cup.

Movement Between

When talking about movement from one place to another, a transitional preposition e (凡[↖]) is inserted between the place names. The Anglic equivalent of this is the prepositional form from ... to ...:

He traveled from Zhdant to Tlapinsh. Zhdant·e`tla·pinsh o`yan·qie se.
He teleported from the house to the garage. Ke it·zi·e·iadl`a·jem ko`et·sie se.

This form is also used in naming; for example, Zdetl = from ZD to TL.

Verbs: The Imperative Case

The imperative case is used when giving an order or instruction that must be carried out. Verbs in the imperative end in -zhda (曰凡).

Che`dle' (王凡 [↖] 凡 [↑]) to guard	Chedl`zhda! (王凡 [↖] 凡 ^{曰凡}) guard!
Pradr`ie' (凡 [↖] 凡 [↖] 凡 [↑]) to move something, telekinetically	Pradr`zhda! (凡 [↖] 凡 [↖] 凡 ^{曰凡}) move (that) telekinetically!
Tla`ko·le' (凡 [↗] 凡 [↖] 凡 [↖] 凡 [↑]) to eat	Tla`kol·zhda! (凡 [↗] 凡 [↖] 凡 [↖] 凡 ^{曰凡}) eat!

The imperative case can also be used to express our will or desire to do something, as in Anglic “Let me do it.” In Zdetl this becomes condensed:

De yev`lia ze, nie`dle i`nin-tetl mi`chia ze. You permit me to do that thing.
(Let me do that)
I`nin-tetl mi`che-zhda ze. Allow me (to do that).

This can also be used to express a wish or an exhortation:

Yek`ta i`qi-zhda! Be good!
Tok`pa i`qi-zhda! Be well (healthy)!
Tletl`zhda! Be silent!
Ye`ka-che iazh ma`tla-chte vidl`zhda! Live long and prosper!

Adding jdo (ЈДО) to the imperative makes it a request for instruction or orders, as in the Anglic “Shall we ...?”

Jdo o`zhda de? Shall we go?
Jdo tlat`zhda ye? Shall they begin Jdo mi`tot-lzhda de? Shall we dance?

Note that the verb ozde', to go, becomes shortened to ozhda in the imperative.

Correlative Pro-Forms: -QEZ and -AD

The suffix -qez (-ΣΣΖ) indicates quantity. The correlative words may be formed by adding the appropriate prefixes.

i`qez	人ΣΣΖ	how many
i`nin-qez	人アメアΣΣΖ	that many
A`chi-qez	ア王人ΣΣΖ	every
A`yo-qez	アユルΣΣΖ	none
i`cha-qez	人王アΣΣΖ	some
zi`qez	コ人ΣΣΖ	any amount

The prefixes shown above can also be applied to any of the other correlative base forms, for example, -ad (-ἌΔ) from Lesson 2:

iad	ズΔ	which person/who?
inin-ad	人アメアズΔ	that person
A`chi-ad	ア王ズΔ	every person
A`yo-ad	アユルズΔ	no person
i`cha-ad	人王アズΔ	someone
ziad	コズΔ	anyone

As you can see, this adds measurably to the ways questions can be answered quite easily:

Iad? (who/ which person?) Ichaad. (someone) Ayoad. (no one) Ziad. (anyone)
Iqez? (how many?) Achiqez. (all of them) Ziqez. (any quantity)

Discussion: Zhodani Medicine

Psonics has elevated Zhodani medicine and technology in ways beyond the reach of other non-psionic societies. Every Zhodani physician is at least of Pranatl (SOC-11) class who leads a team of physician's assistants of Intendant class. All are psionically trained in at least Telepathy and Healing, and possibly Empathic Healing. This means a Zhodani doctor can evaluate a patient's needs quickly and efficiently, and without the invasive and/or hazardous procedures and technology common in Imperial, Solomani, and other non-psionic cultures. Zhodani hospitals still maintain equipment such as CAT, MRI, and X-Ray machines for contingency use, and Prole technicians are trained in their operation, but they are rarely employed for routine examinations. Invasive surgical procedures are rare, as most medical treatments can be accomplished psionically. Telekinesis and Healing make physical contact between patient and physician unnecessary; when physical surgery is required, it is performed remotely via robotic systems.

Cho`chi·tle'	王凡王人ヒセキ	to heal
Cho`chitl·dievl	王凡王人ヒセキ	the psionic discipline of Healing
Cho`chitl·nad	王凡王人ヒセキ	a healer
Tlat`zi·tle'	ヒセキコ人ヒセキ	to have empathy
Tlat`zitl·dievl	ヒセキコ人ヒセキ	the psionic discipline of Empathic Healing
Tlat`zitl·nad	ヒセキコ人ヒセキ	an empathic healer
not·za·li·tla·ma`zi·nad	ヒセキコ人ヒセキヒセキヒセキ	psychologist
Tavr`chedl	ヒセキモ王ヒセキ	"Guardians of our Morality", the so-called "Thought Police" of Zhodani society

Zhodani medical centers are places of healing and rest designed to be relaxing and comforting. Medical staff go to great lengths to enable visitors to feel calm and safe. Physicians' assistants employ telepathy and empathy to assess their patients' psychological needs; healing (cho`chitl-dievl) to evaluate and if possible and necessary, treat their physical ailments; telekinesis and teleprojection are used for outpatient procedures; telepaths trained in both psychiatry are on hand to help patients adjust when needed. If necessary, Tavr`chedl can be called in when re-education is warranted. Outsiders will notice the lack of sterilization chemicals ubiquitous in other hospitals; aside from controlling airborne diseases, psionics and robotic surgery make them almost completely unnecessary.

Psionic Evaluation

Every child born in the Consulate is evaluated for psionic potential from birth and monitored throughout early childhood. This is done in the nearest Tla·yo·ke·yo'an·dievl, the Psionic Testing Center found in every major city. The goal is not merely to identify and place children who display strong potential; it is also to ensure the birth family remains healthy and stable as their children's talents emerge (or not). All children are not equal, and some develop their strengths earlier or later than others. Annual medical examinations therefore include psionic evaluations. This helps ensure that children who show early signs of strength can be placed in an appropriate environment where their growing talents can develop safely. Children who do not show significant aptitude are simply not trained.

All parents know it's their duty not only to the Consulate, but to themselves, to report any signs of emerging talent as soon as possible. An untrained, powerful telekinetic child, for example, in a family of zhant'ad is a danger to themself and their family - no one wants to experience the 'terrible twos' from a growing pradr'nad! The State recognizes that this is an emotional time for both families and goes to great lengths to ease the transition for everyone. Ideally, the child will be placed with a Dlench`iepr family living nearby. Limited visits may be allowed, supervised by not·za·li`tla·mat`zi·nad and, if necessary, Tavr`chedl. In some cases, the Zhdobr`dievl house the Dlench`iepr family is attached to might allow the zhant'ad family to work for them, but this is not common. A clean break after an adjustment period is generally preferred.

Lesson Six will focus on the ceremony around this event, commonly known as Zhin`qet·stial, or Ascension Day.

Dialogue

Kieko plays with toys in the examination room while a physician observes. An Intendant talks to her while she uses her telekinesis. The testing room has several different toys of a variety of masses, from 1 gram to 10 kg. There are also rings on the floor marking distance.

A·yo`pa·tli i`tetl mi`chie ze. (Ayopatle.)	I did it for no reason. (No reason.)

Discussion: Seasons and Holidays

The Zhodani system of marking the passage of time is, like any other human culture, based on their homeworld and its conditions. A day on Zhdant is 27.02 “standard” hours. On other colonized worlds timekeeping will vary based on local conditions.

zhdan`stial	日々アトニス	a day on Zhdant
ma·chiel`i·stial	日々王五日アトニス	week of five days
shidr	土人	season of 40 zhdanstial
chten	王ニヤ	year of 244 zhdanstial
te`qoz·dij	クセラスロス	olympiad of 3 chten
atl·te`qoz·dij	アトクセラスロス	triple olympiad of 9 chten
a`trint	アトメテ	“Raining”, the spring season
vrien`stial	日々アトニス	“Heat”, the summer season
at`chaf·ser	アト王アベトニ	“Waning” or autumn
a`ta·niebl	アトアマズ	“Harvest”
asht`iavl	アソニス	“Chill” or winter
at`piapr	アトニスル	“Thaw”, the end of winter

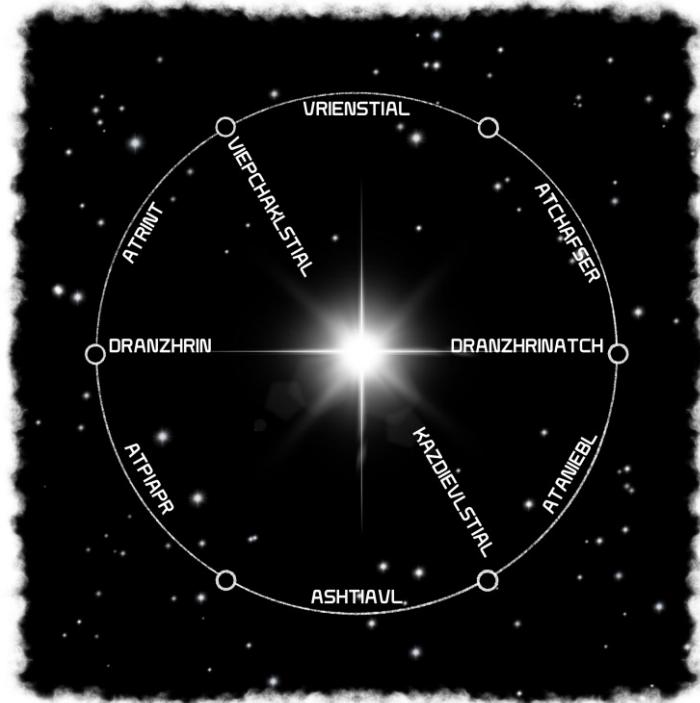

Relative time (today, tomorrow, next week, etc) is expressed with a combination of an expression plus the suffix -stial (-アトニス).

a`man·stial	アタアトニス	Today
i`qin·stial	アタアトニス	Yesterday
a`ko·stial	アコアトニス	tomorrow

Each Zhdanstial is divided into 30 hours (a`chan) of 30 minutes (pi`tlik) each, which in turn have 30 seconds (zhinzh). Marking time on small scale will be covered in Lesson 7.

zhinzh	ヨメアヨ	Second
pi`tlik	ヘヌヒヘヌ	Minute of 90 seconds
a`chan	ア王アタ	Hour of 30 minutes

Like any other human society, the Zhodani have their traditions and holidays (zhdan`zhdan·stial). Most are common cultural events celebrated throughout the Consulate:

Dranzh`rin
ドランズヒン

Sunbright, the Zhodani new year, on the vernal equinox

Viep`chakl-stial
ヴィエップチャカル・スティアル

Moonday, a lunar festival between Atrint and Vrienstrial

Dranzh`rin-atch ドランズヒンアッチ

Sunflight, the beginning of winter, celebrated on the autumnal equinox

Kaz`dievl-stial
カズディエル・スティアル

Harvest festival, celebrated between Ataniebl and Ashtiavl

Te-qoz`ia-stial
テコゾイア・スティアル

Olympiad Day, between Ashtiavl and Atpaipr every three years

At·te-qoz`ia·stial
アットコゾイア・スティアル

Triple Olympiad Day, added every three Olympiads

These are celebrated routinely throughout the Consulate in varying forms, usually adjusted for local astronomical conditions. Social events are central to Zhodani society and establish a sense of cultural unity and individual belonging.

In addition to these larger collective celebrations, Zhodani also celebrate occasions of individual significance like birthdays (jdi`stial), wedding days (nam`stial) and anniversaries (ne`nam`stial). These are usually less flashy than the bigger zhdan`zhdan`stial, but they are no less important. The most significant of these is Zhin`qet`stial, or Ascension Day, the day a Zhodani child who shows significant Psionic potential is elevated to the rank of Dlench`iepr (Intendant). It is celebrated once in a child's life and marks what may be their most significant life event.

Zhin`qet`stial is an emotionally difficult event for the zhant'ad family. On one hand, every zhant'ad parent hopes that a child of theirs will rise above the parents' lowly station; on the other hand, sending a child off to live with a new family is difficult for any family. For this reason, the Zhodani government goes to great lengths to limit the trauma to the zhant'ad family. Once the child's potential has been confirmed, the Dlench`iepr and Zhant'ad families go through a process of acclimation where the child and parents are given time to adjust to the new circumstances. This can include visits between the families, counseling sessions with psychologists and other mental health professionals, and if necessary, consultations with the Tavr`chedl. The ceremony itself is planned by both families and thus varies in levels of pomp and grandeur.

One feature is common to every Zhin`qet`stial event, however; that is the presentation of the child with their first A`katl, the headband they will wear as the mark of their new status. The A`katl is a simple tiara, typically made of a lightweight alloy, and bearing a gemstone that indicates their primary psionic discipline. At this point, the child begins their new life as a dlench`iepr. The zhant'ad family usually gains a bit of status, though never enough to rise beyond their common station, and occasionally may be welcomed into the Zhdobr`dievl household as workers or retainers, if the situation warrants and the Zhdobr`dievl household approves the request. This is not common, however, as a clean transition is considered best for both parents and child.

Marriage and Gender Equity

The Zhodani have enjoyed a great degree of sexual and gender equality since their own Dark Ages, largely because psionics does not discriminate between genders. Females and males are equally likely to develop psionic talents, and to the same degree of strength.

Relationships are also egalitarian, with greater acceptance of same-gender marriages than in certain other human cultures, though it is less common among the zhant'ad than among dlench`iepr and zhdobr`dievl, given the preference for large families at the lower social strata. Still, advances in reproductive technology such as in-vitro fertilization, artificial wombs, and in extreme circumstances, cloning, allow upper-level zhant'ad couples all the benefits of more "traditional" families. Such requests always require the approval of a zhdobr`dievl, of course, as do marriages.

Same-sex unions between dlench`iepr are more common because family size depends more on adoption rather than reproduction. Additionally, dlench`iepr and zhdobr`dievl have significantly more freedoms than zhant'ad, and large families at the upper strata are less common.

Dialogue

After the ceremony. A dialogue between Nor Tliaqrnad and the Intendants adopting Kieko. Nor and Azhdiazhiepr talk about Kieko while she plays with Velmiepr.

- Kieko Cha, kekela!

Impersonal Verbs

Every language has idiomatic structures that are used to express facts and events that are not necessarily attributable to a specific agent or actor. These are called impersonal phrases and the verbs that belong to them are impersonal verbs. In Anglic, the word it is used as a stand-in for the nonexistent subject, as when referring to the weather ("it is snowing," "it is raining," etc.) In Zdetl this is unnecessary and omitted:

Rint`ia (it is raining)

Lienj`ie (it was windy)

Piap`ře (it will thaw)

Vrien`ia (it is hot)

Chiakr`zi-ře (it will sandstorm)

Asht`iabl-ia (it is freezing)

Note that in each of these cases, the noun referring to the type of weather (rint = rain) becomes a verb by adding the required verb ending.

While it is possible and not necessarily incorrect to say Iqia rinte for It is rainy, it's also not preferred and is considered stilted and overly formal, if not archaic.

The Reflexive Pronoun

In Lesson 3, Akom ke Pria, we introduced zhe (↗), the reflexive pronoun. In this lesson we will investigate the uses of zhe in greater detail.

Most verbs show an action being done by someone (the subject) to something (the object). Remember that in Zdetl, sentence order is object – verb – subject:

Object	Verb	Subject
Ke fevr`anzh The book	Mo`chi·tia is read by	ke drie`fri the boy

With some verbs, it is possible for the subject to perform the action on itself rather than on another entity. In Anglic, we often append some variation of -self to the pronoun, as in myself, yourself, ourselves, etc. In Zdetl such actions are indicated merely by repeating the pronoun:

Ze myself	pyal`ia take care of	ze I
De Ourselves	chedl`ia guard, protect	de we
Ye Yourself	tla`kent·ia amuse	ye you

Third person pronouns (collective “you”, he/she/it, and they), which in Anglic would become yourselves, himself (etc), and themselves, in Zdetl become the reflexive pronoun zhe:

Zhe Herself	tla`kent·ia amuses	se she
Zhe Yourselves	ko`ets·ie teleported	le y'all
Zhe Themselves	ya`na·ia hid	ye they

Likewise, the reflexive pronoun can be used with the definite article to indicate specificity:

Al zhe To herself	mo`chit·ia reads	ke zie`fri the woman
Al zhe To himself	ni`loz·ie talked	ke drie`fri the boy ¹⁸
Al zhe To themselves	koq`ie listened	ye they ¹⁸ The Zhodani would consider this to be poor manners. Despite being a telepathic society, they still expect people to keep their thoughts to themselves.

When a verb follows the pronoun zhe, it is said to be being used reflexively, because the action being done reflects to the subject.

The Possessive Reflexive Form

In the same way that adding -o to personal pronouns makes them possessive pronouns (my, your, our, etc), -o when added to the reflexive pronoun zhe indicates that the object belongs to the subject. Zheo can be translated into his, hers, its, or their:

Zhe`o ka`fi	tlá`pa·ie	se
Her coffee	drank	she
Zhe`o it`zi	qí`lo·ie	se
His house	painted	he
Zhe`o chi·ka·ken`miz·tli	chi`lit·ia	ye
Their cat	play with	they

Remember that zheo must not be used to directly qualify a subject, it may only refer to it. For example, in the following sentence, it would be incorrect to say Potlia se, zheo chikakenmiztli ... because chikakenmiztli is a subject.

Potl`ia se, se`o chi·ka·ken`miz·tli chop`ia ZHE`O cha`mi.
He says that his cat is washing its face.

-EV (-◀ ▶)

The suffix -ev (-◀ ▶) is used to indicate when an action is causing or bringing into being the state or condition expressed by the root word. Ev can also be used independently as either a noun (ke ev, the cause of) or a verb (eve', to cause). This is not to be confused with the partial pro-form -patle, which expresses the reason for an event or condition.

-Ev applied to adjectives transforms them into verbs.

asht`ia·bla (cold)	asht·ia`blev·e' (to cause to be cold)
vrien (hot)	vrien`ev·e' (to make warm)
qí`ta (wet)	qit`ev·e' (to dampen)
zotl (dry)	zo`tlev·e' (to dry off)

-Ev applied to a verb makes the action causative; in other words, it expresses an act that is done to something or someone:

cho`etzh·e' (to laugh)
i`qe' (to be)
ko`chie' (to sleep)
o`tre' (to be calm)

cho`etzh`ev·e' (to make laugh) i`qev·e' (to bring into being) ko`chiev·e' (to put to sleep)
o`trev·e' (to pacify, to calm)

-EZ (-≲コ)

To indicate when the state of being expressed in the root word has come into being, we apply the suffix -ez (-≲コ). Independently, -ez can be used as the verb eze', to become.

-Ez can modify adjectives:

asht`ia·bla (cold)
vrien (hot) ka`yo·tle (beautiful)
yek`ta (good) e`tli (heavy)

asht·ia`blez·e' (to become cold) vrien`ez·e' (to become warm) ka·yo`tlez·e' (to become beautiful) yek`tez·e' (to get better)
e`tlez·e' (to get bigger)

-Ez modifies nouns, prepositions, and affixes:

chtol (n., a glow)
shtiefr`nam (husband)
choq`zin (daughter) kon (with) a`kom (inside)
-ti`ki (small)

chtol`ez·e' (to become glowing) shtiefr·nam`ez·e' (to become a husband) choq·zin`ez·e' (to become a daughter) kon`ez·e' (to unite) a·kom`ez·e' (to enter, to go inside)
ti·ki`ez·e' (to shrink)

-Ez modifies verbs:

cho`et·zhe' (to laugh)
i`qe' (to be)
ko`chie' (to sleep)
o`tre' (to be calm)
tla`kol·e' (to eat)

cho·et`zhez·e' (to become laughing)
i`qez·e' (to begin existing) ko`chiez·e' (to fall asleep)
o`trez·e' (to become calm) tla`kol`ez·e' (to be eaten)

The suffix -ez is used commonly with verbs that show an action being done to something or someone to show that the action does not affect anyone other than the subject.

a`chits·le' (to collide)
fronzh' (to lay waste)
ko`to·zhe' (to sit)
ma`tlacht·ie' (to prosper) na`mi·qe' (to meet)

a·chits`lez·e' (to have a collision) fronzh`ez·e' (to become a wasteland) ko·to`zhez·e' (to be seated) ma·tlacht`ez·e' (to become prosperous) na·mi`qez·e' (to come together)

-AJI (-ஆଜି)

The suffix -aji (-ଆଜି) is used to denote a smaller piece of a larger whole, as indicated by the root word:

rint (rain)
te`zint·li (fire)
ke`tli (snow)
a`bradl·nad (currency, credits)

rint`aj·i (raindrop) tezintlaji (a spark)
ke`tlaj·i (a snowflake)
a·bradl·nad`aj·i (a coin or banknote)

KASHA- (କଶା-)

The prefix ka`sha- (କଶା-) makes the affixed noun into a container of the thing it describes:

a`bradl·nad (currency)
kotl (tea)
til`ma (clothing)
jiebl (spice)

ka·sha`bradl·nad (wallet or purse) ka`sha·kotl (teapot, tea cozy) ka·sha`til·ma (suitcase)
ka`sha·jiebl (spice rack)

This can also be used for comic effect, as in ka`sha·nad, a sarcophagus or coffin, literally a “box that holds people.” It is culturally incorrect as well – since the Dzaq`tlas plague, Zhodani funeral rites have involved cremation. Also, while kashatlima is structurally and grammatically correct and could be used for wardrobe or closet, Zdetl has another word more commonly used (chtotrchez) that takes those meanings. Overuse of prefixes and suffixes is often an indicator of a non-native speaker.

History: The Dzaqlas and the Second Dark Age

Of all the historical events that shaped Zhodani culture in its nearly 300,000 year history, few rival the plague event known as the Dzaq`tlas (জোক্তলা), which brought about the end of the first Industrial Age.

Prior to the Dzaq`tlas, Zhdant was home to not one but two sapient species, the offshoot of humanity that would later become known as Homo Zhdotlas, and a non-human species known as the Chirpers or Qik`na·vrats, as the humans of Zhdant called them.

The Qik`na·vrats (জুগান মুর্দা), like the Zhodani humans, had long been known to be alien to Zhdant. While their actual history was unknown at the time, they were, in fact, a regressed offshoot of another non-human species called the Droyne, themselves descendants of a long-dead species of creatures known only as the Ancients. The Qik`na·vrats were discovered on Zhdant's smaller continent, Qiknavra, and in the succeeding centuries, the humans of Zhdant traded and occasionally made war with them and both species prospered.

The cultural and technological exchanges between the two species brought unprecedented advancement and growth. The humans had technology to trade; the Chirpers had a unique skill that fascinated and intrigued the humans – psionics. Though to the technologically-focused humans this new skill was little more than amusing parlor tricks, it would later become critical to their survival.

By c. Imperial year -7980 (-550 by the Zhodani calendar, about 3500 BCE), when Terran humans were still discovering bronze tools, Zhodani humans and their Qiknavrats friends took their first steps into space. Orbital flights soon became routine, and exploration of Zhdant's moon Viep`chakl (বেপচাকল) had begun. To their surprise and mutual delight, the explorers discovered another species of Chirper living on Viepchakl, whom they named the Viep`chaklts (বেপচাকল্ট), or People of Viepchakl. Intercultural exchanges began between the three species, with representatives of both Qik`na·vrats and Viep`chaklts visiting each other's home planet.

Unfortunately, unknown to all three peoples, the Viepchakl explorations unleashed an ancient, long-dormant biological weapon left behind thousands of years earlier. Within a few years the entire Chirper population of both worlds was extinct and nearly two-thirds of the human population was dead.

The Dzaq'tlas, as the plague would be called, erased nearly all the technological and socio-economic gains of the previous millennia. Because of their alien biology, neither the Zhodani nor the Chirpers had any prior experience with serious diseases. Medical technology was underdeveloped due to the lack of necessity. As a result, human civilization on Zhdant reverted to barbarism as entire cities were emptied in a futile attempt to avoid the plague's effects. For the next thousand years Zhdant experienced a Second Dark Age during which the population slowly recovered.

It is not clearly known when psionics rose to prominence, but it is likely that it played a role in the recovery. At some point during the Second Dark Age, some tribes or kingdoms discovered that certain psionically adept individuals could resist the effects of the Dzaq'tlas, which had remained dormant years later. Others could use their mysterious power to heal others. Eventually the western kingdoms of Dleqiats began embracing psionic healers and other psionic adepts and using them to expand their influence and power. A code of ethics and service like the Terran code of Chivarly was developed – the Tavr'ziansh (ターヴ・ジアンス), or Morality's Path that defines Zhodani culture even today.

The empire building through psionic development and moral guidance enabled the newly-emergent Zhodani society to recover and prosper again, and within a few hundred years of the end of the Second Dark Age, Zhodani humans had once again achieved space flight and began returning to Viepchakl and beyond¹⁹.

The Conditional Mood

Conditional clauses are introduced by ek (እኝ) in Zdetl. They express an action or event that will take place only under certain conditions.

There are two types of conditional clauses in Zdetl. Real conditionals take place in the present or future and unreal conditionals are not fulfilled in the present or future or were't fulfilled in the past.

Real Conditionals

Real conditionals usually express that we are not sure whether an action will take place but there is a real possibilty that the action can be fulfilled (perhaps I'll have time in the afternoon).

The condition and its result are in the future, so we use both verbs in the future tense (-ře).

Ek tla`cha·e a`chan kav`ře ze, ve ma`ko·ře pa`kia·e ze.
If I have time this afternoon, I will gladly help you.

Sometimes it's possible for a condition to be fulfilled at the time of speaking and be followed by an action in the future. Here, we put the conditional verb in the present (-ia) and the result in the future (-ře).

Ek ke shtiefr`abr a`chan·e ko`kia, ke ken`ka·li ezh`ře za`ne.
If the mother is still baking, we will visit the family later.

It's possible that the condition has already been fulfilled and the result will take place in the future. In this case we put the condition in the past (-ie) and the result in the future (-ře).

Ek ko`kie ze`o shtiefr`abr, tla`tso·e mizh`tlo·yo tla`ko·ře de.
If my mother baked, we will eat cakes in the evening.

We can also use an imperative (-zhda) in the main clause.

Ek mizh`tlo·yo ko`kia shtiefr`abr, ma`ko·zhda se.
If mother bakes cake, help her.

Unreal Conditionals

Unreal conditionals express what we would do or would have done under different conditions or in a different situation.

If the condition and result are in the present or future, we use the conditional verb mood (-za) in Zdetl.

Ek a`chan kav`za ze, ve ma`ko·za pa`kia·e ze.

If I had the time, I would be happy to help you.

If the condition and the result are in the past, we use the past participle form of the verb (-ien, -スベア) with -za (-ienza, -スベアコア):

Ek a`chan kav`ien·za ze, ve ma`kien·za pa`kia·e ze.

If I'd had the time, I'd have been happy to help you.

Tlamachti 8: Ke Zhdanstial

The Day

ズセ ゾヌアラヒスツ

As discussed previously in Lesson Six, the zhdan`stial (ゾヌアラヒスツ) is a standard day on Zhdant is approximately 27 Terran hours. However, the Zhdani divide their day into 30 equal units called a`chan (ズセズセ). These in turn are divided into 30 “minutes” called pi`tlik (ズムズム) which consist of 90 “seconds” called zhinzh (ゾヌアヨ).

Telling the Time

To ask and tell the time in Zdetl, we simply use the pro-form i`qez (イケズ) as an adjective:

I`qez-a i`qia a`chan?

What time is it?

In Anglic, the reply is usually given in several ways. For example, to express 8:15, we can say “a quarter past eight”, “fifteen minutes after eight”, or “eight-fifteen.” In Zdetl the same concepts apply. However, it is best to study one method thoroughly and use that to build on understanding the other forms.

A typical Zhodani analog wall clock. The inner ring shows the relative daytime and rotates once per day; the hour (achan), minute (pitlik), and sweep (zhinzh) hands move the same as a Terran analog clock. The hours are numbered from 1 to 10, spinward (clockwise).

8:00	Ke ko`e (achan).	Eight o'clock (the eighth hour).
8:10	Ma`tla·pa ie`pri ke ko`e (achan).	Ten past eight.
8:10	Tye`ia·ji ie`pri ke ko`e.	One-third past eight.
8:15	O·me`ia·ji a`pri ke ko`e (achan).	Half past eight.
8:20	O·me·i·ma·tla·pa pi`tli·ko iepr`i ke ko`e.	Twenty minutes past eight.
8:20	Ma`tla·pa tiech ke ko`na (achan).	Ten ‘till nine.
8:20	Tye`ia·ji tiech ke ko`na.	One-third ‘till nine.
8:02	Ome`i pi`tli·ko ie`pri ke ko`e.	Two minutes past eight.
29:88	Ome`i pi`tli·ko tiech te·yo`cha·li.	Two minutes to midnight.

Remember that there are 30 minutes (pi`tli·ko) in a standard Zhodani hour (achan)! Also, note the use of the suffix -aji with a number creates a fractional expression of that number:

O`me`ia·ji	Half
Na·cho·ie`aj·i	One quarter
Ma·tla·pa·ji	One tenth
O`me·i ma·tla·pa·ji	Two tenths
Tye`ia·ji	One third

The word a`chan is usually omitted from expressions of time.

ie`pri (夷凡人) before an expression of time is often translated into Anglic as ago:

I saw him two hours ago.

Se yz`qie ze ie`pri o`me·i a`chan·o.

Three days ago, I was on Viepchakl.

Viep`chakl i`chi i`qie ze i`epri tye`i stial`o.

In the same way, tiech (⌚王) can be used to express in as in an event that will happen at a time in the future:

She will be home in three hours.

Io it`zi i`qře se tiech tye`i a`chan-o.

In two hours we will be in Dlolpliki.

Akom Dlolpliki iqře de tiech omei achano.

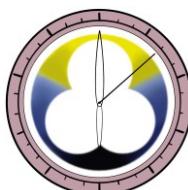

Another way of expressing time throughout the day is by thirds. Because the 30-hour zhdan`stial is usually displayed on a ten-hour clock with the standard “zero hour” beginning at midnight, the day can easily be marked by three segments: an early morning portion from midnight to the tenth hour, a midday portion from the tenth to twentieth hour, and an evening portion from the twentieth hour to midnight. These units are themselves called Tye`ia·ji (⌚三分之一) or thirds. When used in expressing time (as opposed to simply saying “the fifteenth hour”, for example), they follow the hour expression in the statement.

Te-yo`cha-li ⌚三分之一 Hour Zero

Pliebr'a-its ⌚三分之一 Hour Ten

Stial`cha-li ⌚三分之一 Hour Fifteen

Pliebr-i-ma`ni
⌚三分之一 Hour Twenty

8:00	Ke ko`ye ob ke chia`la tye`ia·ji.	The eighth (hour) of the first third.
15:00	Ke ma`chiel-ia ob ke om`e-ia tye`ia·ji.	The fifth (hour) of the second third.
24:00	Ke na`cho`ie-a ob ke tye`ia tye`ia·ji.	The fourth (hour) of the third third.

In practice, tye`ia·ji is omitted from the expression as it is understood and not needed:

8:00 Ke ko`ye ob ke chia`la. The eighth (hour) of the first (third).

The Individual days of the week (ma·chiel`i·stial) are not given special names as they are in Anglic, but are simply numbered, with the numerical names abbreviated. The exception is the fifth day, which is traditionally a day of rest:

Chi`stial	王人土ニス丘	First day
O`me·stial	日々セトニス丘	Second day
Tye i·stial	くひセトニス丘	Third day
Na`cho·stial	アヌ王日々ニス丘	Fourth day
Kia`tla·stial	ニスと日々ニス丘	Rest day

Imperial visitors are likely responsible for “Tako Nachostial,” a new traditional end-of-week meal.

First, Second, Third, etc.

As in Anglic, numbers in Zdetl can be formed into adjectives (first, second, third, fourth, etc) by adding the ending -a (-ア) to the names given in lesson 1:

chia`la	王ス丘ア	first
O`me·ia	日々セス	second
tye`ia	くひセス	third
na·cho`ie·a	アヌ王日々ス	fourth
ma·tla`pa·na	日々と日々日々ア	tenth

For higher numbers, add the -a ending to the final word:

ma·tla·pan`chia·la	日々と日々日々ア王ス丘ア	eleventh
O`me·i·ma·tla·pa·no`me·ia	日々セ日々と日々日々ア日々セス	twenty-second tye·i·ma·tla`pa·na	くひセ日々と日々日々ア	thirtieth
na·cho·ie`chie·na	アヌ王日々王日々ア	four hundredth

Numbers can also be made into nouns by adding -I (-イ):

Chia`li	王ス丘人	a unit
o·me`i·i	日々セ二人	a pair, a duo
Tye`i	くひセ三人	a trio
ma·tla·pa·no`me·i	日々と日々日々ア日々セ人	a dozen

Also, into adverbs by adding -e (-𠂇):

Chial`e	王ス𠂇	firstly
O`me·ie	𠂇ス𠂇	secondly
Tye`ie	𠂇ス𠂇	thirdly
ma·tla`pan·e	𠁻𠁻と𠁻𠁻𠁻𠁻	thenthly

To express numbers as fractions, add the -aji (-𠂇𠂇) suffix:

o·me`ia·ji	𠂇ス𠂇ス𠂇	half
tye`ia·ji	𠂇ス𠂇ス𠂇	a third
na·cho`ia·ji	𠁻𠁻斯𠂇ス𠂇	a quarter
ma·tla`pan·aji	𠁻𠁻と𠁻𠁻𠁻𠁻斯𠂇	a tenth

To show how many times something has happened, add -qik (𠁻𠁻𠂇):

chial`qik	王斯𠁻𠁻	once
o·me`i·qik	𠂇斯𠁻𠁻	twice
tye`i·qik	𠂇斯𠁻𠁻	thrice
ma·tla`pan·qik	𠁻𠁻と𠁻𠁻𠁻𠁻斯𠁻𠁻	ten times

With an adjective, qik becomes a noun:

ke chia`la qik	𠂇𠂇 王斯𠁻𠁻	The first time
ke o`me·ia qik	𠂇𠂇 𠂇斯𠁻𠁻	The second time

To express a numerical collective or group, add -edl (-𠂇𠂇):

O`me·iedl	𠂇斯𠂇	Two together
Tye`iedl	𠂇斯𠂇	Three together
Na·cho`iedl	𠁻𠁻斯𠂇	Four together

Discussion: Popular Entertainment²⁰

All human societies some form of artistic expression; the Zhodani are no different. In fact, participation and consumption of the arts and entertainment is considered essential to good mental health and the overall health of Zhodani society. Artisans, writers, actors, and creatives of all types can be found throughout the Consulate.

The arts are not subject to State supervision, however. Zhodani artists simply know what's acceptable and what isn't, and voluntarily remain within those limits. Artistic expression tends to be devoted to reinforcing and upholding social virtues and the importance of the individual and the individual's role in society.

²⁰ Mongoose Traveller Alien Module 4: Zhodani, pp 40-41

As in every other aspect of Zhodani culture, psionics plays an important role in the arts. Telepathic performers can read the responses of their audiences and tailor their performance to shape the desired emotions or thoughts; telekinetic sculptors create interactive displays that respond to viewers' thoughts; authors and architects instinctively understand the emotions of the residents and readers and create spaces and works that inspire the needed responses. Private homes are designed to be comfortable and create a sense of belonging and contentment; medical facilities are decorated in soothing and calming tones; military buildings are imposing and powerful.

Theater plays an important role in Zhodani arts and entertainment as well. While movies, tridee entertainment, and video are common, attending live performances of music, dance, and drama are considered essential as the other formats lack the very real emotional impact of live theater. Stage performers are almost always psionic, usually telepathic or telempathic, and highly trained and skilled in creating the precise emotional responses expected from the audience.

Of course, theatrical performances center around important cultural events, stories, and legends from Zhodani history, always with an eye toward instilling nationalistic pride and respect for the psionic authority. One popular genre is roughly analogous to the Spaghetti Western of 20th century American films or the Samurai dramas popularized in Japan in the same period by filmmaker Akira Kurosawa and others. These "Dzaq'tlas Tales" typically recount stories from the Zhodani Second Dark Age, when the psionic nobility began gaining power and spreading its influence across the mainland. Like the Terran westerns or samurai tales, these stories usually revolve around a lone psion (or several, depending on the story) traveling across the desert, bringing justice to, or healing downtrodden and suffering people. Terran observers who have been fortunate enough to see such performances have noted the similarities.

Convergent evolution aside, though, Dzaq'tlas Tales are very popular in the Consulate and when the opportunity to see a performance arises, attendance is expected and highly sought after.

Prefixes and Suffixes

-TEPO (ຫົກ່າວ)

Comparisons

Adjectives of quality all have three forms called degrees. These allow varying levels of description called comparisons to be made between nouns of the same type. The three degrees are typically called the positive degree, the comparative degree, and the superlative degree.

In Anglic, we typically add -er and -est to the end of an adjective to achieve the comparative and superlative, for example: tall/taller/tallest.

However, there are exceptions:

good

better

best

And sometimes we add more and most:

beautiful

more beautiful

most beautiful

Sometimes we combine the comparators for good with another word:

good tasting better tasting

best tasting

And to make it even more confusing:

tasty

tastier

tastiest

Zdetl is somewhat less confusing and more standardized than Anglic.

In general, there is one form to cover all three cases:

ep`ko·a (famous)	ep`ko·atl (more famous)	ep`ko·a·tlas (most famous)
ㄦㄻㄷㄮ	ㄦㄻㄷㄮㄮ	ㄦㄻㄷㄮㄮㄮ
pa`kia (happy)	pa`kiatl (happier)	pa`kia·tlas (happiest)
ㄫㄻㄱ	ㄫㄻㄱㄮ	ㄫㄻㄱㄮㄮ
e`dre (close)	e`dre·atl (closer)	e`dre·a·tlas (closest)
ㄦ㄰ㄬ	ㄦ㄰ㄬㄮ	ㄦ㄰ㄬㄮㄮ

The endings -atl and -tlas correspond to Anglic -er and -est, respectively and are derived from titles of nobility:

Pra`natl (ರಾನಾತ್ಲ), “Aspirant”

Vies`tlas (ವಿಸ್ತಳಾಸ್), “Highborn”

The exception is the adjective yekta, which has the following forms:

Yek`ta (good)	Yek`tatl (better)	Zhdo`tlas (best, or “supreme”, as in Homo Zhdotlas, “supreme man”)
ಯೆಕ್ತಾ	ಯೆಕ್ತಾತ್ಲ	ಝ್ಡೋತ್ಲಾಸ್

The adjective good also takes the form:

zhdo`ta (good) 召只太

zhdo`tatl (better) 召只卡太 zhdo`tlas (best) 召只卡太

However, in most cases the standard endings are used:

chi·ka·ken`miz·tli
(kitty)

chi·ka·ken`miz·tliatl (good kitty)

chi·ka·ken·miz`tli·tlas (best kitty)

EL and OL

EL is used when comparing things and is like than in Anglic:

Li`na·liatl el de i`qia se.

He is taller than you.

Kliazh`ev·iatl el tla`cha·ka i`qia kliazh`atl.

An ocean is wetter than a desert.

Linalitlas iqia Azhdiazhiepr.

Linaliatl ej Kieko iqia Velmiepr.

Achatlitlas iqia Kieko.

Achatliatl ej Azhdiazhiepr iqia Velmiepr.

Achatlitlias oj ke ziefri iqia Kieko.

Linalitlas oj ke ziefri iqia Azhdiazhiepr.

OL is used when identifying an item out of a group being compared:

Icha`ki·tlas ol ke tle·ko`ni·o i`qia se.

It is largest of the animals.

Li·na`li·tlas ol ke driefr`abr·o i`qia se.

He is tallest of the brothers.

Recap: Syntax and Word Order

Recall from the Introduction that the basic sentence structure of Zdetl is object-leading; in other words, the word order is Object - Verb - Subject.

Fevr`anzh moch i·tia de.

(A book is being read by you.)

Adjectives precede the noun they modify: Adjective - Object - Verb - Adjective - Subject.

Vrien`a ka`fi tla`pa·ia ke ka`yo·tle ziefr`i.

(Hot coffee is being drunk by the pretty woman.)

The same rule applies to adverbs: Object - Adverb - Verb - Subject.

The Indirect object follows the subject: Object - Verb - Subject - Indirect Object.

Tlan`qil ki`lo·ie ze ai de.

Sentences using verb infinitives take the following order: Object - Verb Infinitive - Verb - Subject.

Mi`to·tle' i`ko·tlia ze.

(To dance desire I.)

Prepositions precede the word they modify the same way adjectives and adverbs do: Preposition - Object - Verb Infinitive - Verb - Subject.

Kon se mi`to·tle' i`ko·tlia ze.

(With her/him to dance desire I.)

Interrogative statements are led by the question word JDO:

Jdo ka`fi i`ko·tlia de?

(Do you want coffee?)

Conjunctions (and, but, or, etc) are placed between the nouns they refer to (i.e., Do you want coffee or tea: O - Con - O - V - S (JDO Coffe OR tea/desire/you)

Jdo ka`fi pra kotl i`ko·tlia de?

(Do you want coffee OR tea?)

Prefixes and Suffixes

-AZD (-ازد)

The suffix -AZD indicates a continuous action. It transforms an action into a noun:

Qra`zhe (noise)

Qra`zhazd (a sustained noise)

A`paz (in front of)

A`paz·azd (leading) rid (to sing)

Rid`azd (singing)

I`qe' (to be)

I`qazd (existence)

It can also modify a noun to turn it into an activity:

adr (grasp)

A`dratzd (gripping)

vevl (a ship)

Ve`vlazd (shipping)

Ziefr`abr (mother)

Ziefr`a·bratzd (mothering)

RO- (ڦو-)

The prefix RO- indicates a repetition or recurrence of an action:

E`zhe' (to visit)

Ro`ezhe' (to revisit)

Ki`lo·e' (to write)

Ro·ki`lo·e' (to rewrite)

Mo`chi-te' (to read)

ro·mo`chi-te' (to re-read)

Paz`kle' (to attempt)

Ro`pa·kle' (to retry)

-EBL (-ڪٻل)

The suffix -EBL indicates a possibility or likelihood:

a`le·kre' (to favor)

a`le·krebl (favorable)

a·ki`ma·te' (to know)

a·ki`ma·tebl (knowable)

fronzh' (to lay waste)

fronzh`ebl (destructible)

i`ko·tle' (to desire)

i`ko·tlebl (desirable)

-IPR (-ڀپر)

The suffix -IPR indicates worthiness or merit. Note its similarity to the ending of Dlenchiepr, “Aspirant”:

cho`et·zhe' (to laugh)

cho`et·zhipr (laughable, humorous)

chte' (to observe)

chtipr (observable)

briepl' (to condemn) briepl`ipr (contemptible)

pa`pa·qe' (to enjoy)

pa`paq·ipr (enjoyable)

-IVR (-lander)

The suffix -ivr indicates a land or region. Used independently of a root word, it means literally, “land”.

a`tlivr (region)
fronzh`a·tlivr (wasteland) jdatl`ivr (mountainous land) zhdiech`edl·ivr (forested lands)

Discussion: The Zhdant Ecosystem

Zhdant is a habitable world orbiting a solitary KOV star, an average-sized red main sequence stellar body called Pliebr (ῆλιος), slightly smaller than Sol but half as bright. Zhdant orbits at 0.77 AU (116 million km) with an orbital period of 245 local days.

Pliebr	ῆλιος	The solitary KOV red star of the Zhdant system
Zhdant	জ্বাদন্ত	The Zhdani homeworld
Dle`qiats	ধেক্ষিত	The main continent of Zhdant
Qik`na·vra	জ্বান্দার্বা	The smaller continent of Zhdant
Viep`chakl	জ্বাদন্ত মূর্তি	Zhdant's moon

Physically, Zhdant is about three-quarters the size of Terra with a diameter of 9,620km. Approximately 40% of its surface is covered with water and it has an atmospheric pressure of 0.52 atmospheres, giving it an arid, temperate climate. Temperatures rarely vary from the extremes of -40°C in Winter to +40°C in summer in the high desert.²¹

Zhdant has two main continents, the larger land mass of Dleqiats, and the smaller continent Qiknavra. Dleqiats is dominated in the center by a vast desert region, which is mostly uninhabited apart from rail transit stations, mining facilities, and research stations. Qiknavra is mountainous with equatorial rainforests dominating the landscape.

Plant life (ko`chi·ni) on Zhdant evolved to make maximum use of the red-dominated light of Pliebr. Trees (zhdiech) grow extremely tall and with deep roots in the low gravity, with massive trunks and broad, deep red or purple leaves (ko`zitl) at the canopy (zhdiech·edl`chi·ma). Middle levels of the forests feature vines, creepers, bromeliads, carnivourous plants, and a variety of parasitic and symbiotic plant life. The forest floor is a thick, primeval layer of mosses, ferns, fungi, and other reducing vegetation.

The Forests

ko`chi·ni	コチニ	plant life, plants
ko`zitl	コズィト	leaves
zhdiech	ズヂエチ	trees
zhdiech·edl`ko·chal	ズヂエチエドルコチャル	forest floor

zhdiech·edl`chi·ma	ズヂエチエドルチマ	the canopy layer
zhdiech`tlas	ズヂエチタラス	the emergent layer

The forests of Zhdant follow the same growth patterns as the rainforests of Terra. The forest teems with life at all levels, much of it dangerous. The zhdiechedlko·chal or forest floor is home to terrestrial insect hives, larger predators, and reptiles. Beginning at about 20 meters is the zhdiechedlchali or understory where climbing plants compete for nutrients in the dim light. Parasitic plants grow on the trunks of taller trees and carnivorous vegetation lures insects and small mammals. Creatures at this level are adept at camouflage, as they are on Terra – insects appear to be leaves or sticks, serpents and reptiles hide in plain sight, changing their appearance to match tree bark or foliage.

Above the zhdiechedlchali is the zhdiechedlko·chal, the forest canopy. Here is where flying and climbing creatures make their homes, and where trees produce fruit to propagate their seeds. This layer is home to wild varieties of chikakenmiztli (six legged cats) and cha`kotl, squirrel-like creatures, who hunt and forage among the dense branches. Both species are found in nearly every climatic zone on Zhdant – where there are trees, there are chakotl and chikakenmiztli to hunt them. Chikakenmiztli are also a popular house pet throughout Zhodani space and have even been bred and sold outside the Consulate.

The uppermost layer of the forest is the zhdiech'tlas, the emergent layer. Here, the tallest trees of the forest spread their broad leaves to soak up as much energy from Pliebr's feeble red light as they can. Many creatures that make their home in the zhdiech'tlas never set paw on the forest floor.

The creatures that inhabit Zhdant's forests are excellent climbers. Animal life (tle'ko·ni) on Zhdant is hexapodal (having six limbs) to maximize climbing and enable foraging the high canopy while maintaining a firm grip, since a fall from those levels would be fatal even in the lower gravity of Zhdant. Some species exhibit skin flaps between their limbs resembling those of Terran flying squirrels, which allows limited gliding between the branches of the upper canopy and reduces the chance of a fatal fall.

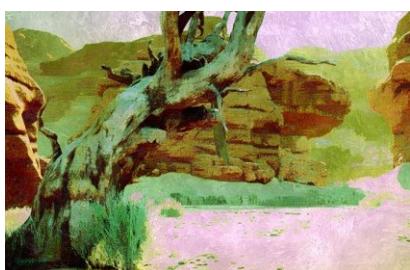

Plant and animal life

tle'ko·ni	とべくのアメ	animals
cha`kotl	王アマヒト	six-legged climbing gatherers analogous to squirrels chi·ka·ken`miz·tli	王人アマセヤマコトメ	six-legged catlike pouncers
ko`chi·ni	アマ王アメ	birds, avian species
qin·qin·ko`chi·ni	スヌアマヌアアマ	any of several species of avians analogous to terran hummingbirds
zo`ka·tli	コロアマヒトメ	flowers
frřz·o`ka·tli	タマコロアマヒトメ	bromeliad (cup-flower)
to`paz·tli	カロアマコトメ	fern

Flying creatures also follow the six-limbed pattern, with two pairs of wings to improve lift and maneuverability. Most birds have a large main wingspan. The dzha'yak is one example; it fills the same ecological niche on Zhdant as the Terran vulture and has a main wingspan nearly two meters across.

Insects (za`yo·li) are mostly terrestrial. Flying species, like birds (ko`chi·ni), have more wings than their terran counterparts, and with greater surface area. Dragonfly-like insects (pi`pa) are common and often have wingspans up to 20cm across. Eusocial insects are mainly terrestrial or tree-dwelling, rarely flying. Many species are carnivorous and venomous. Zhdant has as many varied species of insect life as Terra does, in similar ecological niches. The table below is only a small subset of the insect kingdom.

Insect life
za`yo·li	コヌリウム	insects; the insect kingdom
pi`pa	スズメガ	large dragonfly-like creatures that inhabit the forests and marshes of zhdant. also, the inspiration for the pi`pa·yotl , an ornithopter
shtak	ホタル	eusocial, terrestrial insects analogous to ants
ri`qra	ハチタマ	general term for various species of bee-like pollinators
pli`bri	ムカシムカ	eusocial terrestrial termite-like insects
zhdoq	ヨロシ	scavenger and reducer insects that fill the same niche as cockroaches and scarab beetles

The native desert life evolved to survive extremely harsh conditions. Precipitation mainly occurs along the coastal regions, leaving the deep desert almost devoid of surface water. Plants probe deep below the surface, hunting for any water they can find. Animals have large external ears that can be folded for protection or extended during the heat of the day to radiate excess heat or capture morning dew (kliazh·cha`pa·ni) in the early morning. Many species are nocturnal (to·yo`ne·ma) and hunt by moonlight (shiv`va).

Desert creatures

to·chin`qo·a	トシキナマダラル	A six-legged carnivore that looks like a cross between a rabbit and an African honey badger. Also the name of a class of light missile frigates.
dzha`yak	トヨラバヤク	a flying scavenger analogous to vultures but much larger and more dangerous
chtot`zi	シトシコトツ	A mouselike scavenger native to the deeper regions of the Dleqiats desert
kliazh`mi·li	クスヨタヌリ	A sessile, venomous carnivore that traps its prey by mimicking a pool of standing water
vlez`jaq	バセコバク	A winged predator native to the eastern Dleqiats desert that resembles a cross between a scorpion and a bat

The land bridge between Dleqiats and Qiknavra is a mire of salt marshes and inland seas hundreds of kilometres wide, but even there, life has, uh, found a way. Reeds, grasses, and other salt-tolerant plants dominate the landscape for hundreds of kilometres and provide food and shelter to waterfowl (kliazhkochini) and reptiles. Fish (okotzi) and other marine creatures use the salt marshes as nursery grounds for their young. Birds find a ready sanctuary from predators as well as an abundance of food sources including fish, shellfish, and insects.

Cooking and Food

ズラタロ ズヨ とアズルベル

The Verb Infinitive

In the previous lesson we mentioned the concept of the verb infinitive when it appears as part of the sentence structure. In fact, we have already seen many examples of Zdetl verbs in their infinitive form – i`qe', ka`vre', and mer`ke-de' (to be, to have, and to have permission) are all infinitives of the verbs. They refer to the action itself without reference to time, place, or actor.

In Anglic, verbs most often have two words leading with to followed by the verb itself, as in “to speak”; in Zdetl this does not happen. All verb infinitives are a single word usually ending in e' (↖^):

i`qe' to be fa`e' to name (someone) o`tla·ke' to happen

ke`kle' to have fun
i`ko·tle' to want tla`te·me' to feed

Zdetl, like Anglic, has a few instances of verbs that need another verb in its infinitive form to complete their meaning. For example, in Anglic we don't say “I can something” or “I am able to something”, we say:

I must DO something
I can DO something
I am able TO DO something

The verb DO (with or without TO) is the infinitive, and in Zdetl is translated as miche' (ゞメ王セ'):

I`cha·tetl mi`che' de`via ze.
I must (am obligated to) do something.
I`cha·tetl mi`che' chel`ia ze.
I can (am able to) do something

Prepositions with an Infinitive

The Anglic ending -ing is often used as an infinitive. In Zdetl, placing a preposition before the infinitive has the same function:

- Ilchita (Instead of): Il`chi·ta kia`tla·ze', tle`pia se.
Instead of resting, he worked.
Il`chi·ta it`zia ozd`e' ze, ai ke fevr`anzh·adl ozd`ie ze.
Instead of going home, I went to the library.
- Niedl (for): Ke qik niedl chil`i·te' chak ka`vria ze.
I don't have the time for playing.
O`mei a`chan niedl ken`ka·che' ka`ti·lia zhe ke tla`ko·li.
One needs two hours to prepare that meal.
Chien`zi yz`qia niedl ma`ko·e' de`o che`ma·ti.
Here are some exercises to help your health.
- Okeqa (besides): O`ke·qa rid`e', i`ko·tla qi`qi·che' se.
Besides singing, he wanted to whistle.
- Ziv (without) Ma·tla·pa·ma`tla·chien zdev chi`ki·tie se, ziv ti`ma·ne' ke
it`zi.
She walked ten kilometers without leaving the house.
Zi`tetl ziv po`tle' ti`ma·nie se.
He left without saying anything.
Ziatl chak mi`qa·nia ze, ziv qrazh`e'.
I can't move the table without making noise.

Niedl with an infinitive usually means in order to.

Affixes As Independent Words

Many of the prefixes and suffixes covered in previous lessons may be used as independent roots, taking the appropriate ending. Here are a few useful examples:

affix	as a noun	as an adjective	as a verb
-ebli (possibility)	ebli (a chance)	ebla (possible)	eble' (to be possible)
-aji (a part)	aji (a piece)	aja (fractional)	ajae' (to subdivide)
ro- (repetition)	roi (a repetition)	roa (repetitive)	roe' (to repeat)

Particles – words used without an ending, i.e., correlatives, prepositions, etc. – can also be used this way by adding an ending. This is actually very common, and many new words can be created this way; the following table is only a small subset of what's possible:

A`chi·qik (always)	a·chi`qik·a (permanent, constant)
I`nin·qik (then)	i·nin`qik·a (of that time) i·nin`qik·nad (a man of the time, a contemporary)
I`nin·zhia (there)	i·nin`zhia`i (of that place, local)
iazh (yes)	iazh`e' (to reply affirmatively)
chak (no)	chak`e' (to deny)
A`lir (outside)	a`lir·a (external, outer) a`lir·aj (the outer part)
tiech (before)	tiech`i (previous) tiech`e (previously) tiech`nad (predecessor)

Discussion: Food

When the now-extinct species known only as The Ancients settled Zhdant, they brought with them a collection of species from other worlds, including the humans that eventually would become the Zhodani race. Their reasons are unknown and no longer relevant; what is known is that unlike some of their other transplants, the Ancients genetically modified the proto-Zhodani to allow them to process the local, alien proteins. Modern Zhodani exhibit several biological features that are not shared by other species of humaniti that enable them to digest the alien proteins and other nutrients found in the native flora and fauna of Zhdant.

-OZH (ஓஷ்)

The suffix -ozh refers to a food made from the root word.

tla`ko·ye' (to eat)	tla`ko·yozh (food)
a`brst·ia (chicken)	a·brst`i·ozh (chicken meat)
bre`ia (wing)	brei`ozh (wings, the appetizer)

These changes are naturally reflected in the Zhodani diet and cuisine, which as a much higher protein content than a typical Terran diet does despite coming mostly from plant-based sources. Starches and carbohydrates come mainly from legumes and tubers; the Zhdant ecosystem lacks the vast expanses of grasslands found on Terra and the arid climate makes large-scale cultivation of grasslands nearly impossible, so grains like wheat, rice, and barley are entirely unknown on Zhdant. Animal-based proteins are mainly meat and eggs from domesticated avian species like the abrrstia and related birds as well as from the semi-aquatic noql. Herds of large grazers are entirely unknown, though a few native species have been domesticated for centuries as draught animals and for meat. Milk and dairy products, while not entirely unknown, lack the variety found on Terra. The few cheeses and other milk products are often unpalatable and indigestible to non-native visitors. Ice cream is almost entirely unknown in the Consulate (much to the disappointment of Solomani visitors).

Common domesticated food animals

a`br<small>r</small>st·ia アブルストニア	A winged herbivore resembling a four-winged Terran chicken. Raised for its eggs, meat, and fibrous feathers.
noql ノクル	An amphibious crawler commonly raised in dammed streams and kept for its eggs. Known to be not native to Zhdant.
kredl クレドル	A grazer native to Zhdant, kept as cattle for meat, leather, and milk.
ko`tlan·qi コタルン・キ	A small grazer, analogue to Terran goats. Kept for milk, meat, and leather, found in mountains and desert regions.

The forests of Zhdant produce a wide variety of fruits, which make a significant portion of the Zhodani diet. Noticeably lacking are any form of citrus. Unlike Terran humans, the Zhodani physiology is capable of producing folate and folic acid, which obviates the need for supplemental citrate and folate. Fruits are grown and consumed mostly for enjoyment and flavor rather than nutrition. The following list presents a few native examples.

A few common fruits

ke·kli`mo·li ケ・クリ・モ・リ	a cluster fruit that grows in the forest canopy and has been compared to a combination of Terran bananas and papayas. Commonly used as a pureed base for soups, salsas, and curry dishes.
che·chi`che·li チエ・チ・チエ・リ	a large, pulpy fruit from a plant that grows along riverbanks. It has a leathery husk surrounding a sweet interior. The seeds are toxic to most native fauna and induce vomiting, diarrhea, and death. Zhodani, however, harvest the pulp and seeds, drying the latter to create a spicy powder used in many of their local dishes. Visitors who have tried it describe the experience as “hellish.”

Spices play an important role in modern Zhodani food culture as well. During the Second Dark Age, long-term food storage became difficult to impossible due to the lack of refrigeration, so the survivors at the time turned to pickling and spices to preserve vegetables, fish, fruit, and meats. Many of these local spices are either indigestible or unpalatable to non-natives; the few that aren't have a high concentration of chemicals resembling Terran capsaicin and can be very spicy.

A few spices and herbs

kin`kli·cha ㄊㄨㄞㄏㄤㄉㄢ	A savory spice derived from the bark of the kinkicha tree
noz`ti·ka ㄉㄢㄏ㄰ㄎㄢ	A subtle spice made from the ground up hull of a nut found in the northern latitudes of Qiknavra
i-ke-la`tli·ko ㄩㄝㄎㄧㄉㄢ	An herb a bit like rosemary cho-na`ka-i ㄔㄠㄏㄢㄭㄕㄢ	Like garlic but much stronger

-AJO (-ㄐㄡㄢ)

The suffix -ajo refers to a blend or mixture made with the root word. In cooking, it usually refers to a spice blend or combination of food items. Its meaning is roughly similar to the Terran “masala.” Ajo can be used independently as a noun atoi a mixture, a verb aioe' to combine, or an adjective ajoa blended. Spice blends usually take their name from the region they come from:

Qik`na·vra	Qik·na`vra·jo (a hot, flavorful blend of spices)
Dlol`pli·ki	Dlol·pli`kia·jo (a savory mixture commonly used with fruits)
Viep`chakl	Viep·chakl`a·jo (a particularly challenging spice blend with a lingering after-burn)

Like any other primate species, the Zhodani enjoy sweets and sweetened foods. However, excessive consumption of such delicacies is considered a sign of poor mental health and is highly discouraged. Dried fruit and sweetened confections are often consumed alongside or following a normal meal and provide a pleasant counterpoint to the spices of the main course. Balance in life is important to the Zhodani, and mealtime is no exception.

The Zhodani eat more frequently during the day than their Imperial or Solomani counterparts, often five or six times during a 30-hour period, but they eat smaller meals. The Zhodani metabolism processes nutrients significantly faster than that of Vilani and Solomani, and light snacks of dried fruit, vegetables, or meat are common.

Meals are social events, and the six “standard” meals roughly correspond to the times of day they are consumed. The type, amount, and composition of the meals varies widely throughout the day as well.

Pliebr`a·its	Pliebr·a·its·tla`ko·li	Breakfast	Easily digested starches and proteins
Cha`pa·ni	Cha·pa·ni·tla`ko·li	Elevenses	Supplemental starch and proteins
Stial`cha·li	Stial·cha·li·tla`ko·ni	Lunch	Typically, the largest meal of the day, large portions of spicy food rich in nutrition
Tla`cha	Kotl`qik	Teatime	A social meal a lot like the British version
Pliebr·i`ma·ni	Pliebr·i·ma·ni·tla`ko·ni	Supper	Another large meal, but not as heavy as lunch
Tla`tso	le·pri·tla`ko·ni	Afters	A lighter meal in preparation for the night's rest

A Zhodani might also awaken a few times during the 10-hour sleeping period for light exercise and a snack.

Participles

We have discussed how nouns can be formed into adjectives by changing the ending -I to -A (or by adding -a to nouns that don't have the standard form):

Ko`chi·ni (a plant)

Ko`chi·na (botanical, plant-like)

If we wish to give the idea of an action or activity to the root word, we use the participial ending:

Ko`chi·ni (a plant)

ko·chi`nia·na (flowering, flourishing)

The word remains an adjective describing a noun, but it differs from an ordinary adjective in that it also implies an action. A word ending in -ia·na (အိုာ်) is called an imperfect participle. In Anglic this is usually translated as -ing. There is also a perfect participle form ending in -ie·na (အိုးာ်), in Anglic -ed, -en, etc.):

Shtia`qia·na (studying)

Shtia`qie·na (studied)

ko·chi`nia·na (flowering)

ko·chi`nie·na (flowered)

tla·ko`lia·na (eating)

tla·ko`lie·na (eaten)

la`qia·na (cooking)

la`qie·na (cooked)

o·mo`chia·na (passing)

o·mo`chie·na (past, gone by)

Some examples of usage:

Chez`tli·na zdiech i`to·ie ze.

I saw a fallen tree.

Che`tlia·na zhdiech i`chi ko`to·zhie se.

He sat on a fallen tree.

Mich·tlo`ie·na chi·ka·ken` miz·tli jia`plie se.

She found a dead cat.

Mich·tlo`ia·na cha`kotl jia`plie se.

He found a dying squirrel.

Drianta omochiana zhdanstialo.

Quickly passing days

Pan omochiena chten chak nilozia de.

We don't talk about past years.

Nouns in the plural should add the -o ending when needed.

The Perfect Tense

In Anglic, when we want to emphasize that an action is finished and complete, we use the perfect participle with have, has, or had to show the timing. In Zdetl we do the same thing but use i`qia, i`qie, and i`qře to show the timing:

Present perfect tense:

Che`tlie·na i`qia ze.	I have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qia se.	He has fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qia de.	We have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qia le.	Y'all have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qia ve.	You have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qia ye.	They have fallen

Past perfect tense:

Che`tlie·na i`qie ze.	I had fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qie se.	He had fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qie de.	We had fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qie le.	Y'all had fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qie ve.	You had fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qie ye.	They had fallen

Future perfect tense:

Che`tlie·na i`qře ze.	I will have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qře se.	He will have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qře de.	We will have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qře le.	Y'all will have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qře ve.	You will have fallen
Che`tlie·na i`qře ye.	They will have fallen

In these sentences, have is never translated as kavre', which means "to possess". Instead, when used with -ienā:

- I`qia = have, has
- I`qie = had
- I`qre = will/shall have

-RENA (-රෙනා)

In Zdetl, there is a third participle form that does not exist in Anglic and describes an action or event that is about to happen. This is used to describe an action that has not yet started but is about to begin, and in Anglic takes the form of about to or going to:

Ke it`zi i`qre ko·cho`ře·na ke driefr`i i`qia ze`o driefr`abr.

The man about to enter the house is my husband.

I`qie che·tli`ře·na ke zhdiech.

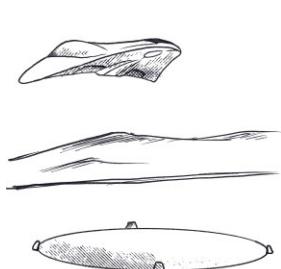

The tree was about to fall.

I`qia dra·its`ře·na ke vevl.

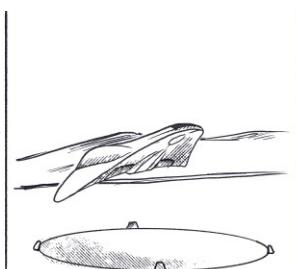

The ship is about to arrive.

I`qre·na qí`ki.

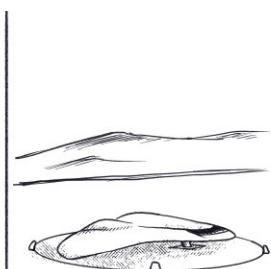

Future time.

Iqia draitsřena ke vevl

Iqia draitsiana ke vevl

Iqia draitsienā ke vevl

Participle-nouns

Participles can also take the form of nouns by adding the -I ending in place of -ia, -ie, or -re. Such nouns indicate a person performing the action. This is not to be confused with the ending -nad, which is most often associated with a profession, trade, or skill, as in Tliaqrnad (miller) or pradrnad (person trained in telekinesis). It can be translated into the Anglic -er:

chik`te' (to walk)
ka`ye' (to love)
cho`et·zhe' (to laugh)
rid' (to sing)
tla`ne' (to send a message)
za`re' (to trek)

chik`te·ni (a hiker)
ka`ye·ni (a lover)
cho·et·zhe·ni (someone laughing) rid·e·ni (singer)
tla`ne·ni (a messenger)
za`re·ni (a wanderer)

Passive Participles

In addition to the three participial endings -ie`na, -ia`na, and -re`na, there are three passive participles ending in -ient`a, -iant`a, and -rent`a:

-ianta shows that the action is still in progress or that the state is still applicable:

che`tliant·a zhdiech	a falling tree
mich·to`liant·a driefr`i	a dying man
ka`yiant·a ziefr`nam	beloved wife

-ienta shows an action that has finished or been completed, or a state that is no longer applicable:

che`tlient·a zhdiech	a fallen tree
dra·its`ient·a vlezhd`vevl	a landed starship
mi`chient·a ko`a·tli	completed work

-renta shows that an action has not yet been started:

a·ki·ma`trent·a a·ki`ma·ti	knowledge not yet learned
dra·its`rent·a vlezhd`vevl	a ship that has not arrived yet
mi`chrent·a ko`a·tli	work not yet begun

OKYE ... CHI ...

The expression “the more/less ... the more/less” when used to compare two actions or states is created by adding the definite article ke to the words okye and chi and is translated by ke okye/chi ... ke okye/chi:

Ke okye chtře se, ke okye papaqře se.

The more you look at it, the more you will like it.

Ke okye qietse, ke okye yekte.

Ke okye se mochitia ze, ke chi se akimatia ze.

The more I read it, the less I know (understand) it.

Occasionally, this form is used alone in the sense “all the more so, so much the more”:

Ke okye, ke pakiatl.

The more, the merrier.

Ke okye yekte.

So much the better.

CHAK- (查々-)

When used as a prefix, chak- creates the opposite meaning indicated by the root word:

yek`ta (good)

chak`yek·ta (bad)

zotl (dry)

chak`zotl (wet)

qita (wet)

chak`qi·ta (dry)

qietsa (swift)

chak`qiets·a (slow)

In actual practice, this is rarely done since Zdetl already has many words expressing the concepts above (zotl/qi'ta, for example). It is included to show that it can be done. Chak- is the equivalent of the Anglic prefix “un” or “anti”. In Anglic it is possible to say something like “ungood” instead of “bad” or “unalive” instead of “dead”, but it’s never actually done except for comedic effect.

Discussion: Leisure

The popular Imperial belief about the Zhodani is that they are “all work and no play”, mindless automata incapable of enjoyment and denied leisure by their dictatorial telepathic overlords. This is not true; in fact, the Zhodani value a healthy balance between work, family, and social activities and the Zhdobr`dievl encourage participation and involvement in all.

Sports and physical games are encouraged not only for fun but also for the health benefits and social interaction²². Zhodani children play the same sorts of games as children of the Solomani and Imperium, and the children of visitors to the Consulate often have little trouble fitting in with Zhodani children. Games of tag, hide-and-seek, and so forth are popular diversions.

Team games are introduced to older children, as are individual physical competitions, again for the social and physical benefits, but also to instill a sense of cultural connection. Psionics are sometimes used, but most sports are tests of purely physical skill.

Adult sports tend to be less team-oriented and more individual and involve psionic skills as well as physical ones. The Te`qoz-dievl are, of course, the best known competitions in Zhodani culture, but are hardly the only ones. The Zhodani have their own versions of soccer, tennis, and various martial arts, all of which enjoy a dedicated and loyal fan base. In many sports, psionic skills are prohibited as the competitions are meant to be tests of physical prowess alone. Cheating is entirely unknown as it would be immediately detected (and the participant re-educated).

Besides athletics and team sports, the Zhodani also have a thriving artistic culture²³. Participation in and enjoyment of the arts is considered essential to maintaining good mental and spiritual health and is highly encouraged. Theatre, dance, sculpture, music, and comedy are all important facets of the art world in the Consulate, though to outsiders it can sometimes seem limited and unimaginative. Zhodani artists are not restricted or censored by the government, nor are they discouraged from experimenting – they simply know what is acceptable, and rarely stray into forbidden territory. Zhodani art typically extols the virtues of society and Zhodani history and reinforces the threefold virtues of Tavr (morality), Yek'tavr (honesty), and Ma'chia·tavr (respect). Together these are known as Tavr'ziansh, Morality's Path.

²² Mongoose Traveller Alien Module 4: Zhodani, p. 41

²³ Mongoose Traveller Alien Module 4: Zhodani, p. 40

The Arts

tavr	タバ	morality
yek'tavr	エカバタバ	honesty
ma'chia·tavr	マチアタバ	respect
tavr'ziansh	タバズィアン	Morality's Path
ke'kan	カカン	art
tlaz'tli	タラツリ	music
pe`pech·tli	ペペチ	theatre
mi`to·li	ミトリ	dance
te-ka`yo·ti	テカヨチ	sculpture

Because the arts are so well respected, and because leisure and relaxation is valued as a social good, the Zhodani daily routine includes a healthy amount of time for both. The 15-achan daylight period is not reserved exclusively for work, even for proles. A typical workday begins at about the eighth hour of the first period and continues for no more than five hours. A two hour break between the 14th and 16th achan is built in for relaxation and social activity, to play games or engage in sports, or pursue personal interests and hobbies. The afternoon work period lasts from the 16th to the 21st achan, after which the evening meal commences.

The early evening hours are reserved for more social occasions when they are available, such as theatrical performances, concerts, or outdoor activities. By some Imperial standards, the Zhodani would seem to enjoy lives of luxury – even proles have plenty of time for leisure and personal pursuits, and few are engaged in heavy manual labor, having robots to do the dangerous work.

コヌアヌコヌ

Adverbial Participles

One common pattern of speech in Anglic is the sentence beginning with a participial phrase tacked on:

Wishing to speak with him, I visited his house.

Seeing her in the garden, I called to her.

Singing melodiously, they walked through the park.

Intending to stay, we stood in the corridor.

In Zdetl the form is similar, but the participle takes the adverbial form:

Kon se i·ko·tlia·ne ni`lo·ze', se`o it`zi e`zhie ze.

Se a`kom ke zhotch`tli i·to·ia·ne, ai se tlaz`tlie ze.

Ko`ka·tle rid`ia·na, tlo ke zhotch`tli bro`jev·ie ye.

Ka`tla·ke' ye`kia·na, a`kom ke kal`me·ki i·ka`ti·kie de.

The sentence order can be inverted without losing the original meaning:

Se`o it`zi e`zhie ze, kon se i·ko·tlia·ne ni`lo·ze'.

Ai se tlaz`tlie ze, se a`kom ke zhotch`tli i·to·ia.

Tlo ke zhotch`tli bro`je·vie ye ko`ka·tle rid`ia·na.

A`kom ke kal`me·ki i·ka`ti·kie de ka`tla·ke' yek`ia·na.

The participial phrase can be expanded into a complete sentence whose subject is the same as that of the main clause:

Kon se i·ko·tlie niloze' ze.

Se a`kom ke zhotch`tli `ito·ia.

Ko`ka·tle rid`ie ye.

Ka`tla·ke' ye`kia de.

Se`o it`zi e`zhie ze.

Ai se tlaz`lie ze.

Tlo ke zhotch`tli bro`je·vie ye.

A`kom ke kal`me·ki i·ka`ti·kie de.

As in Anglic, the participial phrase must always relate to the subject of the main clause.

The perfect participle is likewise used:

Ke ko`a·tli mi`chient·a i`qie ze. It`zie o`zdie ze.

I had finished the work. I went home.

Ke ko`a·tli mi`chient·e, it`zie o`zdie ze.

Having finished the work, I went home.

Similarly, the participle ending -řenta is also used:

Tlan`qil ki·lo`řent·a i`qie ze. Za`nen te`mie ze.

I was about to write a letter. I looked for a pen.

Tlan`qil ki·lo`řent·e, za`nen te`mie ze.

About to write a letter, I looked for a pen.

Passive participles can also be used to form participial phrases:

Chak itoiena iqie se. Ke itzi timanie se.

He was not seen. He left the house.

Chakitoiente, ke itzi timanie se.

Unnoticed, he left the house.

Past Extending to Present

An action or state having its origin in the past but continuing into the present is expressed by the present tense and with the preposition jan (ヤマダ):

Jan tye`i stial chak`top·kie ze.

I have been ill for three days (and still am).

Jan o`mei a`chan ni`lo·zia se.

He has been speaking for two hours (and won't shut up).

Jan tye`i ma·chie`li·stial ke i`nin·stial i`qia de.

We have been here for two weeks (and are still here).

Jan chial chten i`chi Viep`chakl i`qia ye.

They have been on Viepchakl for a year (and are still there).

Word-building

Previous lessons have introduced word-building in Zdetl; this section is intended to summarize the concept and show how it can be used to expand the vocabulary. The methods of word-building in Zdetl are similar to other languages, but they are more consistently applied.

By changing the grammatical ending, a root word may be used in a variety of ways:

cho`qi (girl)	cho`qa (feminine)
cho`qe (femininely)	cho`qe' (to be feminine) shtiav`e' (to think)	shtiav`i (a thought) shtiav`e (thoughtfully)	shtiav`a (thoughtful)
yeck`ta (good)	yeck`te (well)
yeck`ti (a good thing)	yeck`te' (to do well)
dievl (psionics)	dievl`e (psionically)

Prefixes and suffixes can be used to alter the meaning of the given root while also creating an associated meaning:

Yek`ta (good)	Chak`yekta (bad)
To`to·me' (to come)	ro·to`to·me' (to return)
Ko`a·tle' (to work)	fe·ko`a·tle' (to begin working)

Suffixes are also used to add to or alter the meaning of the root:

Jia`ple' (to find)	jiaplebra (findable)
jiaplipra (worth finding)	jiaplazi (a clue)
Qi`na (new)	Qi`ne·ze' (to become new) chi·ka·ken`miz·tli (cat)	chi·ka·ken·miz`tli·zin (kitten)
chi·ka·ken·miz·tli`it·za (cat house)	chi·ka·ken·miz`tli·edl (a herd of cats)

Prepositions may be prefixed to a word:

IE·PRI·ki`lo·i (a postscript)	NAL·mi`qa·ne' (to transpose)
TAJ`o·zde' (to exit)	A·KOM`o·zde' (to enter)

Many of the particles can be used with common grammatical endings:

IE`PRe (afterward)

ZHIN`a (overhead)

TAJ`i (outside)

I·NIN`QIK·a (of that time)

Finally, as in many Terran languages, in Zdetl words can be built up from two or more simple words together to form ‘compound’ words. Any combination of words is allowed, but a root noun must always be the final word in the construction.

Tavr`chedl

Chedl niedl tavr, guardians of morality

Fevr`anzh·tavr

Tavr chok`tia·na fevr`anzh, the Book of Morality

Fevr`anzh·pria

Pria dra fevr`anzh, a library

To·yo`chet·zli

Chet`zli dra to`yo, night-fall

ZIL- (コズル-)

The prefix zil- is used like the Anglic “mis-” to indicate a mistake or an error:

Ni`lo·ze' (to speak, to talk)

Zil·ni`lo·ze' (to misspeak)

Il`na·me' (to remember)

Zil·il`na·me' (to misremember)

Ki`lo·e' (to write)

Zil·ki`lo·i (a typographical error)

Shtiatv`e' (to think)

Zil·shtiatv`e' (to think wrongly)

Ko`a·ti (music)

Zil·ko`a·ti (false notes, discordant music)

Note that zil- can also transform the root into other parts of speech (kiloe' becomes the noun zilkiloi; zilkoati can also be a verb zilkoate', to play a false note).

DZAQ- (ダコタク-)

The prefix dzaq- is from a very old and mostly unused dialect dating back to the days of the Dzaq`tlas plague that devastated the human population and left the Qik`navr·ats and Viep`chakl·ts extinct. It's used to indicate a particularly catastrophic or devastating event, usually relating to war or natural disaster.

a`tchis·le' (to collide)

dzaq·a`tchis·li (a horrific crash)

il`na·mi (a memory)

dzaq·il`na·mi (a particularly traumatic memory)

kia`tle' (to attack)

dzaq`kia·tle (a devastating blow)

Because of the implications the prefix carries, it is usually used only when the situation warrants.

FEL- (失败-)

The prefix fel- added to a word implies loose morals, shamefulness, unworthiness, depravity, or general “badness.” Used on its own as an interjection, it means Shame!

shtiav'i (a thought)
ko`a·ti (music)
ni`lo·ze' (to speak)

fel`shtiav·i (disgusting thoughts)
fel·ko`a·ti (raucous, discordant noise)
fel·ni`lo·ze' (to slander or insult)

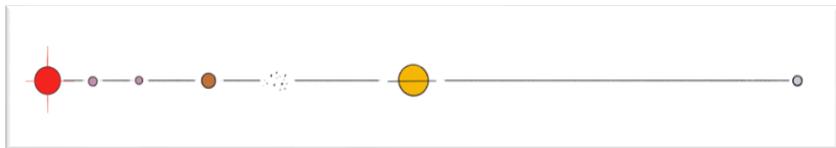

It can be used as other parts of speech as well:

fel'e' (to be depraved)
fel`a (depravity)

fel'i (shamefulness)
fel`e (shamefully or depravedly)

Discussion: Viepchakl and Beyond²⁴

The Zhodani began exploring space early in their development, at least compared to Terran humans. They were making their first trips to orbit while Terrans were still using bronze weapons. These first orbital flights eventually led to manned trips to their nearby moon, Viepchakl, where they discovered a species of non-humans nearly identical to the Qiknavrats they were already familiar with, living in subterranean cities. These they called the Viepchakls or People of Viepchakl.

The Zhodani System

Cultural exchanges soon followed, as did archaeological digs on Viepchakl. Unfortunately, this was what unleashed the Dzaqtas plague that led to the extinction of both the Viepchakts and Qiknavrats and the near extinction of the Zhodani.

Once the Zhodani had recovered from the Dzaqtas, they enjoyed a renaissance period and within two hundred chten had begun establishing colonies throughout the Pliebr system. Interstellar flights soon followed, first at sublight velocities, but eventually using qietsa el va (faster than light) technology.

Orbit	Name	Info
-	Pliebr 𠂔ត្ត	Solitary KOV orange star
0	A`drabl-ish 𠂔កត្តុ ឥសិ	The innermost world in the Zhdant system, a “hot rock ball” tidally locked to Pliebr .
1	Pliant'shotl 𠂔សាតុ សេណូ	A barren rock used mostly for military training.
2	Zhdant ៥ត្ត	The Zhodani homeworld.
3	Dlem`stiats Tsiaqr ៥ត្តុ តុក្ស ពួក្ស	The Zhdant system’s asteroid belt.
4	Bro`vle-kal ៥លុជុក្ស កាល	The system’s only gas giant.
5	Em`kach-draf ៥នុវត្ត កាច់រាង	An airless ice ball.

Today, the Zhodani consulate covers nearly a dozen settled sectors of space and a narrow expeditionary corridor leading toward the galactic core. They are the only major spacefaring species so far to undertake such a massive, long-term effort, which was made possible only by the discovery of an unusual item of ancient technology in Zhdantpreql, the original capital city of Zhdant. The device, called the Toliak, was a psionic projector that displayed accurate real-time star charts along a corridor pointing toward the galactic core. To date, seven core expeditions have been launched from the Consulate.

Appendix A: Syntax and Word Order

The basic sentence structure of Zdetl is object-leading; in other words, the word order is Object - Verb - Subject.

Fevr`anzh moch`i·tia de.

(A book is being read by you.)

Adjectives precede the noun they modify: Adjective - Object - Verb - Adjective - Subject.

Vrien`a ka`fi tla`pa·ia ke ka`yo·tle ziefr`i.

(Hot coffee is being drunk by the pretty woman.)

The same rule applies to adverbs: Object - Adverb - Verb - Subject.

The Indirect object follows the subject: Object - Verb - Subject - Indirect Object.

Tlan`qil ki`lo·ie ze ai de.

Sentences using verb infinitives take the following order: Object - Verb Infinitive - Verb - Subject.

Mi`to·tle' i`ko·tlia ze.

(To dance desire I.)

Prepositions precede the word they modify the same way adjectives and adverbs do: Preposition - Object - Verb Infinitive - Verb - Subject.

Kon se mi`to·tle' i`ko·tlia ze.

Interrogative statements are led by the question word JDO:

Jdo ka`fi i`ko·tlia de?

(Do you want coffee?)

Conjunctions (and, but, or, etc) are placed between the nouns they refer to (i.e., Do you want coffee or tea: O - Con - O - V - S (JDO Coffe OR tea/desire/you)

Jdo ka`fi pra kotl i`ko·tlia de?

(Do you want coffee OR tea?)

Kieko	Tlamatrnad zeo iqře ve?
Azhdiazhiepr	Yelize!

Lesson 6 Reading:

Today Kieko becomes an Intendant. Her prole family is here. Also here is the Intendant family. The new family will give to her a diadem with a gemstone on it. Why? Because the diadem is worn by all Intendants. It is a symbol of status. It also shows the psionic talent they have. The Intendant family is two women, Azhdiazhiepr and Velmiepr. Kieko will become Kiekoiepr and she will have two mothers. Azhdiazhiepr is a pradrnad. Velmiepr is a koetsdrnad. Velmiepr wears glasses. Azhdazhiepr will teach Kieko telekinesis. The ceremony is observed by a zhdrobrdiev. Why does the zhdrobrdiev wear a turban? It is his symbol of status. All zhdrobrdiev wear turbans.

Lesson 6 Dialogue:

- Azhdiazhiepr It's good to meet you, Mrs Tliaqrnad. Your husband told me much about you.
- Nor It's good to meet you too, Azhdiazhiepr.
- Azhdiazhiepr I met Kieko at the psionic center.
- Nor Yes, Ikan said Kiekoiepr liked you.
- Azhdiazhiepr She's a lovely girl. Velmiepr likes her too. Please, Mrs Tliaqrnad, with us you may call her Kieko.
- Nor Thank you, Azhdiazhiepr. It looks like they are playing well.
Did you say Velmiepr is a koetsrnad?
- Azhdiazhiepr Yes, she is. And I am a pradrnad, like Kieko.
- Kieko and Velmiepr appear a few feet away from Nor and Azhdiazheipr.*
- Kieko Yay! That was fun! Can we do it again?
- Velmiepr Ha ha, perhaps in a few minutes. I need to rest first.
- Nor She isn't exhausting you, is she, Velmiepr?
- Velmiepr No, of course not. We have not had the chance to talk, and I wanted to meet you.
- Kieko She can teleport!
- Nor Yes, Kieko, I saw!
- Velmiepr Mrs Tliaqrnad, we know this is not easy for you. Kieko is your first child, yes? She will be our first child as well.
- Azhdiazhiepr We'll take good care of her. Please do not worry.
- Kieko Velmiepr, can you teleport us again?
- Velmiepr takes Kieko's hand, and they disappear with a pop of displaced air.*
- Azhdiazhiepr If you want to, we can stay in contact. It can help both families adjust.
- Nor Thank you, Azhdiazhiepr. I would like that.

Lesson 7 Dialogue:

Azhdiazhiepr The weather looks pleasant this afternoon, shall we go to the park?

Velmiepr That's a good idea. But the forecast predicts rain this afternoon.

Azhdiazhiepr Then (for that reason) we will bring umbrellas and raincoats. Kieko, would you like to go to play?

Kieko Yes! Where are we going?

Azhdiazhiepr To the Noble's park. It's a big park with many paths and birds.

Kieko Are we allowed to feed the birds?

Velmiepr Yes! Remember to bring the bird feed.

Kieko But, what if it rains?

Velmiepr Then Azhdiazhiepr can teach you to make a telekinetic umbrella.

Kieko Oh, fun!

Lesson 8 Dialogue:

Nor Ikan, look! We have a message from Kieko's mothers!

Ikan Azhdiazhiepr and Velmiepr? What does it say?

Nor Kieko is doing well. They are taking her to a theater performance and ask if we would like to go as well.

Ikan Of course? What's the show?

Nor It's a famous Dzaqtas tale, the Three Amigos.

Akam The Three Amigos? I love that story! Can we go, mom?

Ikan I suppose we can! When is the show?

Nor The second (hour) of the third (third). We must get ready!

Later, outside the theater:

Azhdiazhiepr It's good to see you again, Nor and Akam. We're glad you could attend with us.

Nor Thank you for the invitation, Azhdiazhiepr.

Velmiepr Kieko told us Akam likes the story.

Ikan It is. I've read it to him many times. Oh, look, the children are playing!

Akam Make it go higher, Kiekoiepr!

Nor She's learned so much!

Azhdiazhiepr Yes, she's a strong pradrnad and a quick learner. Kieko, bring it back down please!

Ikan Show time!
